Key Risks

Key risks

Investors should be aware that there are risks associated with an investment in Sezzle.

Some of the principal factors which may, either individually or in combination, affect the future operating performance of Sezzle are set out below. Some are specific to an investment in Sezzle and the New CDIs and others are of a more general nature. The summary of risks below is not exhaustive. This Presentation does not take into account the personal circumstances, financial position or investment requirements of any particular person. Additional risks and uncertainties that Sezzle is unaware of, or that it currently considers to be immaterial, may also become important factors that adversely affect the future performance of Sezzle and the New CDIs.

The Placement is being made pursuant to provisions of the Corporations Act which allow offers to be made without a prospectus. This presentation does not contain all of the information which may be required in order to make an informed decision regarding an application for New CDIs offered under the Placement. As a result, it is important for you to carefully read and understand the information on Sezzle made publicly available, prior to making an investment decision. In particular, please refer to this Presentation, Sezzle's full year and annual reports (including Sezzle's most recent full year FY19 results announcement lodged with the ASX on 27 February 2020 and other announcements lodged with ASX, including announcements which may be made by Sezzle after publication of this Presentation).

You should have regard to your own investment objectives and financial circumstances and should seek professional guidance from your stockbroker, solicitor, accountant or other professional adviser before deciding whether or not to invest.

RISKS SPECIFIC TO SEZZLE

1. Compliance with laws, regulations and industry standards

Sezzle operates in a range of jurisdictions including the United States and Canada. Sezzle's business principally consists of providing financial services to consumers and is therefore subject to significant regulation in the jurisdictions in which it operates. Furthermore, with the geographic expansion of Sezzle's business, the Company may become subject to additional legal, regulatory, tax, licensing, compliance requirements and industry standards that are constantly changing.

There is a risk that any changes in this area may impose significant compliance costs, or even make it uneconomic for Sezzle to continue to operate in its current markets, or to expand in accordance with its strategy. This may materially and adversely impact Sezzle's ability to achieve its strategic goals, and negatively impact its revenue and profitability by preventing its business from reaching sufficient scale in particular markets. Sezzle's inability, or perceived inability, to comply with existing or new compliance obligations could lead to a regulator investigating the Company, which could result in administrative or enforcement action, such as fines, penalties, and/or enforceable undertakings.

Key risks

This could also damage the Company's reputation. Some of these risks relate to:

- Regulatory interpretation: Federal and state based regulators in the jurisdictions in which Sezzle operates generally have significant discretion in the application, interpretation and enforcement of laws and regulations that apply to Sezzle. This can cause uncertainty as the interpretation or implementation of existing laws and regulations may change and the regulators may also adjust their level of scrutiny and enforcement action. Furthermore, new laws, regulations and legal requirements which have only recently been adopted or could be implemented in the near future by central or local agencies and regulators and their implementation, interpretation and enforcement may create even greater risk due to lack of regulatory guidance and established practice, in particular in jurisdictions where Sezzle's business grows rapidly and regulators may change their view regarding Sezzle's compliance.
- AML/CTF laws: There has been increased supervisory, regulatory and enforcement focus on compliance with anti-money laundering, counterterrorism financing, anti-bribery and corruption and sanctions laws (AML/CTF laws). While Sezzle has policies, systems and controls in place designed to manage its obligations under AML/CTF laws, ineffective implementation, monitoring or remediation of a policy, system or control could give rise to future compliance issues associated with AML/CTF laws, which could lead to regulatory investigations, reviews, enforcement action, as well as potential litigation by third parties and adverse media coverage.
- Payment system regulation: A change in the payment system regulations in jurisdictions where Sezzle operates could restrict Sezzle's ability to limit merchants adding a surcharge on customers who use Sezzle as a payment method. If a material number of merchants did add a surcharge as a result of such a change, it could adversely affect usage of Sezzle relative to other payment methods.
- Financial Product Regulation: The Australian parliament has recently passed legislation which empowers ASIC with regulatory oversight and the ability to intervene in relation to financial and credit products where it identifies a risk of significant detriment to consumers, enabling it to make orders prohibiting certain conduct related to products offered to consumers. Any similar regulatory intervention in the jurisdictions in which Sezzle operates could adversely affect one or more of Sezzle's businesses and could require substantial compliance costs.
- Privacy laws: Changes to privacy laws and data protection laws in any of the jurisdictions in which Sezzle operates, and the privacy and data protection laws of jurisdictions in which Sezzle commences operations in the future, may require increased compliance costs and systems upgrade costs.

Key risks

- Registration under the US Securities Act: Sezzle has recently become aware that it has satisfied the requirements to become a reporting company under the U.S. Securities Act and will accordingly become subject to the periodic reporting requirements of the U.S. Exchange Act. The Company did not file the necessary registration under Section 12(g) of the Exchange Act by the required filing date in the second quarter of 2020. Among other things, this will require Sezzle to register the CDIs with the US Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) under the US Exchange Act. Registration under the US Exchange Act will involve Sezzle filing annual, quarterly, and current reports on Forms 10-K, 10-Q and 8-K. In the absence of a waiver from the ASX Listing Rules, these SEC periodic reports will be in addition to Sezzle's periodic filings required by the ASX Listing Rules. At the time Sezzle becomes subject to the reporting requirements of the U.S. Exchange Act, Sezzle will also become subject to the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act of 2010, which will impose additional governance and reporting obligations. The Company expects to incur ongoing routine legal, accounting and administrative costs as it pertains to the additional periodic filings. This situation could potentially result in claims or actions against the Company, including fines or penalties, litigation, injunctions or damage awards. The Board, in consultation with its external counsel, does not believe that any potential penalties or actions relating to this matter have the potential to significantly impact business operations or outlook.
- Compliance costs: New and stricter laws and regulations or interpretations of existing laws and regulations, or industry standards to which Sezzle may become subject, could require the implementation of new or more demanding procedures that may carry higher compliance costs.

All of these may have a material adverse impact on Sezzle's reputation, results of operations, profitability, business and prospects

Loss of key contracts and relationships

Sezzle's business depends on its contracts and relationships with retail merchant clients and end-customers.

There can be no guarantee that these contracts and relationships will continue or, if they do continue, that they remain successful. Sezzle's contracts with retail merchant clients can generally be terminated on short notice.

Any loss of Sezzle's key Retail Merchant Clients and End-customers or a failure to secure new clients or customers on favourable terms, may materially and adversely impact Sezzle's results of operations and profitability, and also have a negative impact on Sezzle's reputation and prospects.

3. Failure to increase transaction volumes

Sezzle is currently in the early stages of establishing its presence in the US and Canadian markets, and its ability to profitably scale its business is heavily reliant on increases in transaction volumes and in its customer and Retail Merchant Client base to increase income and profits. Data from increasing transaction volumes will also better optimise the Company's systems and ability to make real-time End-customer repayment capability decisions. Failure to expand in this way may materially and adversely impact the Company's ability to achieve economies of scale and to optimise its systems, and may therefore adversely impact the Company's prospects and ability to improve its future results of operations and profitability.

Key risks

4. Exposure to End-customer bad debts

A major part of Sezzle's operations and earnings depends on the Company's revenue generated from "buy now, pay later" services used by end customers and Sezzle's ability to recoup the purchase value of those services. The Company's profitability depends on its ability to put in place and optimise its systems and processes to make predominantly accurate, real-time decisions in connection with the End-customer transaction approval process.

End-customer non-payment is a major component of the Company's expenses at present, and the Company is currently exposed to End-customer bad debts as a normal part of its operations. However, excessive exposure to bad debts through customers failing to meet their repayments to the Company or a material increase in repayment failures due to job losses or other adverse events, such as events consequential to the COVID-19 outbreak and related containment measures taken in response to the pandemic will materially and adversely impact the Company's results from operations, profitability and prospects.

5. Competitors and new market entrants

The Company considers it has a competitive advantage in being one of the first to provide an interest free 'buy now, pay later' service to the United States and Canadian retail market. However, a number of competitors currently offer services similar to this service in the United States and in the Company's other markets. Existing competitors as well as new competitors entering the industry, may engage in aggressive customer acquisition campaigns, develop superior technology offerings or consolidate with other entities to deliver enhanced scale benefits.

Such competitive pressures may materially erode the Company's market share and income, and may materially and adversely impact the Company's results from operations, profitability and prospects.

A general increase in competition may also require the Company to increase marketing expenditure or offer lower fees to Retail Merchant Clients, which would decrease profitability even if the Company's market share does not decrease.

6. Sezzle's funding facility

Sezzle has a syndicated facilities agreement with a syndicate comprised of Atalaya Capital Management, Bastion Consumer Lending and Hudson Cove Capital Management (the Syndicate) to support Sezzle's funding of purchases by End-customers (the Facility). If repayments are not made or certain terms and conditions not satisfied under the Facility, the Syndicate may terminate the financing arrangements. In these circumstances, Sezzle's capacity to pay Retail Merchant Clients in advance of collecting purchase price instalments from End-customers may be diminished if Sezzle is unable to secure financing from other lenders on equivalent terms or at all. This would significantly slow down Sezzle's growth and may impair its ability to finance its business.

The Facility requires the Company to maintain a drawdown from the credit facility of at least US$20 million beginning 29 November 2019 and of at least US$40 million beginning 29 November 2020.

Key risks

To the extent that Sezzle fails to achieve End-customer lending levels that exceed these minimum drawdown requirements, Sezzle could incur additional losses through significantly increased interest expenses that exceed Sezzle Income, which may adversely impact the performance and financial position of the Company.

7. Failures or disruptions of technology systems

Sezzle depends on the constant real-time performance, reliability and availability of its technology system and third-party technology and communication networks (including the systems of third-party ecommerce networks). There is a risk that these systems may fail to perform as expected or be adversely impacted by a number of factors, some of which may be outside the control of the Company, including damage, equipment faults, power failure, fire, natural disasters, computer viruses and external malicious interventions such as hacking, cyber-attacks or denial-of-service attacks.

There is a risk that repeated failures to keep the Sezzle's technology available may result in a decline in End-customer and Retail Merchant Client numbers or Retail Merchant Clients terminating their contracts with the Company. This may materially and adversely impact the Company's business, results of operations, profitability, as well as negatively impacting Sezzle's reputation and prospects.

8. Reliance on accuracy of third-party data provided to the Company

Sezzle purchases data from third parties that is critical to the Company's assessment of the creditworthiness of End-customers before they are either approved or denied funding for their purchase from a Retail Merchant Client. Sezzle is reliant on these third parties to ensure that the data they provide is accurate. Inaccurate data could cause the Company to not approve transactions that otherwise would have been approved or vice versa, meaning the Company either loses income, or earns income that may lead to a higher incidence of bad debts.

9. Banking and payment processing performance

Sezzle relies on online payment gateways, banking and financial and other institutions, and point of sale devices for the validation of payment methods (such as bank cards), processing and settlement of payments. Any failures or disruptions to such platforms and technology may affect Sezzle's business, results of operations, profitability and prospects.

10. Exposure to potential security breaches and data protection issues

Through the ordinary course of business, Sezzle collects a wide range of confidential information. Cyber-attacks may compromise or breach technology platforms used by Sezzle to protect confidential information. There is a risk that the measures taken by Sezzle may not be sufficient to detect or prevent unauthorised access to, or unauthorised disclosure of, such confidential information.

Key risks

Any data security breaches or Sezzle's failure to protect confidential information could result in the loss of information integrity, or breaches of the Company's obligations under applicable laws or agreements, each of which may materially and adversely impact Sezzle's business, results of operations, profitability, reputation and prospects.

11. Activities of fraudulent parties

Sezzle may be exposed to fraud attempts, including risks from the potential collusion between internal and external parties, and End-customers attempting to circumvent Sezzle's systems (including Sezzle's repayment capability assessments).

Fraud attempts may potentially result in damage to Sezzle's reputation and a higher than budgeted cost of fraud to rectify and safeguard business operations, which may materially adversely impact Sezzle's results of operations, profitability, reputation and prospects.

12. Protection and ownership of intellectual property rights

Unauthorised use or copying of any of Sezzle's software, data, specialised technology or platforms may occur and the validity, ownership or authorised use of intellectual property relevant to Sezzle's business may be successfully challenged by third parties. This could result in significant expense and the inability to use the intellectual property in question, which may materially and adversely impact Sezzle's business, results of operations, profitability and prospects.

Such disputes (whether or not successful) may also temporarily and adversely impact Sezzle's ability to integrate new systems or develop new services, and could involve significant costs of litigation and diversion of management attention, all of which may adversely impact Sezzle's results of operations, profitability and prospects.

There is also a risk that Sezzle will be unable to register or otherwise protect new intellectual property rights it develops in the future, or which is developed on its behalf by contractors. The Company's competitors may then be able to offer identical or very similar services or services that are otherwise competitive against those provided by the Company, which could adversely affect Sezzle's results of operations, profitability and prospects.

13. Breach of third-party intellectual property rights

Third parties may allege that Sezzle's solutions use intellectual property derived by them or from their products without their consent or permission. Sezzle may be the subject of claims that could result in disputes or litigation and this could require Sezzle to incur significant expenses even if the Company is able to successfully defend or settle such claims. If the Company is found to have infringed the third-party's intellectual property rights, this may result in the Company being required to pay monetary compensation to the third-party or take other actions that may, cause disruption to its service delivery model and increase its costs. This in turn could have an adverse impact on Sezzle's results of operations, profitability, reputation and prospects.

Key risks

14. Integration with Retail Merchant Clients

Sezzle uses and relies on integration with third-party systems and platforms, particularly websites and other retail merchant systems. The success of the Company's services, and its ability to attract additional End-customers and Retail Merchant Clients, depends on the ability of its technology and systems to integrate into and operate with various third-party systems and platforms. In addition, as these systems and platforms are regularly updated, it is possible that when such updates occur it could cause Sezzle's services to not operate as efficiently as previously. This will require the Company to change the way its system operates and may disrupt the provision of services, which may take time and expense to remedy, and could adversely affect Sezzle's business, results of operations and prospects.

15. Technological changes

Sezzle participates in a competitive environment. IT systems are continuing to develop and are subject to rapid change, while business practices continue to evolve. The Company's success will in part depend on its ability to offer services and systems that remain current with the continuing changes in technology, evolving industry standards and changing consumer preferences. There is a risk that the Company will not be successful in addressing these developments in a timely manner, or that expenses will be greater than expected. In addition, there is a risk that new products or technologies (or alternative systems) developed by third parties will supersede the Company's technology. This may materially and adversely impact Sezzle's results of operations, profitability and prospects.

16. Capacity constraints

Continued increases in transaction volumes may require the Company to expand and adapt its network infrastructure to avoid interruptions to the Company's systems and technology. Any unprecedented transaction volumes may cause interruptions to the Company's systems and technology, reduce the number of completed transactions, increase expenses, and reduce the level of consumer service, and these factors may potentially adversely impact the Company's financial performance.

17. Loss of or failure to attract key management personnel

Sezzle's ability to effectively execute its growth strategies depends on the performance and expertise of its key management personnel. The loss of key management personnel or any delay in their replacement, may adversely affect Sezzle's future financial performance.

Further, Sezzle requires skilled personnel for entry into new markets that may be in short supply or that may sought after by competitors and new entrants. An inability to attract skilled personnel would inhibit the success of new market entry and may adversely affect Sezzle's future financial performance.

18. Failure to effectively manage growth

Sezzle has experienced a period of considerable growth in income, employee numbers, Retail Merchant Clients and End-customers. A continuation of this growth in the future could place additional pressure on current management, operational and finance resources and on the infrastructure supporting the Sezzle platform.

Key risks

Failure to appropriately manage this growth could result in failure to retain existing Retail Merchant Clients and End-customers and attract new Retail Merchant Clients and End-customers, which could adversely affect Sezzle's future financial performance.

18. Limited trading history

The Company is an early stage financial technology company with limited trading history. Like many early stage companies, the Company has incurred losses since its inception. The reported cumulative losses up to 31 December 2019 are approximately US$23.8 million.

Given the Company's limited trading history, it is difficult to make an evaluation of Company's business or its prospects and there is significant risk that the Company is not able to continue its growth at current rate, if at all or successfully execute on its business plan and strategies.

GENERAL RISKS

19. Capital raising underwriting risks

Sezzle has entered into an Underwriting Agreement under which the Lead Manager has agreed to fully underwrite the Placement (but not the SPP). If certain conditions are not satisfied or certain events occur under the Underwriting Agreement, the Lead Manager may terminate the Underwriting Agreement. This may have a material impact on the proceeds raised under the Placement and Sezzle may need to find alternative financing in order to fund its operations. Refer to Appendix D for a summary of the underwriting arrangements.

20. Market impact of COVID-19

The events relating to COVID-19 have caused significant market volatility in CY2020 including in the prices of securities trading on ASX (including the price of Sezzle's CDIs) and on other foreign securities exchanges. There is continued uncertainty as to the further impact of COVID-19 including in relation to governmental action, work stoppages, lockdown, quarantines, travel restrictions and the impact on the global economy, the economies of the United States, Australia and the jurisdictions in which the Company operates and share markets. In light of recent global macroeconomic events, including though not limited to the impact of COVID-19 and other factors, the United States, Australia and other international economies could experience a recession or downturn of uncertain severity and duration which could further affect spending by End-customers, impact on the operating and financial performance and prospects of Sezzle and interfere with Sezzle's business.

21. Business and operation impact of COVID-19

Sezzle may not be able to collect repayments on time from its End-customers and/or renew contracts with existing Retail Merchant Clients or develop business relationships with new retailers as a result of negative economic and retail conditions associated with COVID-19. Sezzle may experience reduced demand for its services as a result of falling discretionary spending, particularly on in-store purchases in areas where lockdown measures are implemented by governments.

Key risks

The impact of COVID-19 on Sezzle's financial conditions and operations could deteriorate as future developments and new information may continue to emerge. Any future outbreak of public health epidemics may restrict economic activities, reduce business volume or disrupt Sezzle's business operations.

22. Exposure to adverse macroeconomic conditions

Sezzle's business depends on End-customers transacting with Retail Merchant Clients, which in turn can be affected by changes in general economic conditions. For example, the retail sector is affected by such macroeconomic conditions as unemployment, interest rates, consumer confidence, economic recessions, downturns or extended periods of uncertainty or volatility, all of which may influence customer spending and suppliers' and retailers' focus and investment in outsourcing solutions. In addition, events consequential to the COVID-19 outbreak and related containment measures taken in response to the pandemic may materially impact the retail sector, including with respect to consumer sentiment, global supply chains and travel restrictions.

This may subsequently impact the Company's ability to generate income. Additionally, in weaker economic environments, consumers may have less disposable income to spend and so may be less likely to purchase products by utilising the Company's services and bad debts might increase.

23. Investing in equity capital

Investors should be aware that there are risks associated with any securities investment. The prices at which Sezzle's CDIs trade may fluctuate in line with broader market movements or in response to specific circumstances, which may result in the market price being higher or lower than the issue price under the Placement or the SPP. Some factors which may affect the market price of the Sezzle's CDIs include:

- the impact of COVID-19, including with respect to consumer sentiment, global supply chains and travel restrictions;
- the Australian, United States and global macroeconomic outlook, including fluctuations in interest rates, currency exchange rates, inflation, commodity prices, investor sentiment, consumer demand and employment levels;
- changes in United States and foreign government regulation (including fiscal and monetary policies);
- force majeure events such as natural disasters, extreme weather events, pandemics (such as COVID-19), war and terrorism; and
- geopolitical instability and international hostilities.

There is considerable uncertainty as to the ongoing impact of COVID 19 on the Australian, United States and global economies. Equity capital markets have historically, and may in the future, be subject to significant volatility.

No assurance can be given that CDIs issued under the Placement or the SPP respective issue price and none of the Company, its Directors or any other person guarantees the market performance of the CDIs.

Key risks

Sezzle is constantly in discussions with various counterparties concerning partnering with those counterparties in relation to aspects of Sezzle's business and those arrangements may include an equity investment in the company by that counterparty. However, there is no guarantee that any partnership or equity investment will occur or if it does occur whether it can be obtained on favourable terms. Further, if additional funds are raised by issuing equity securities, this may result in dilution for some or all of the holders.

24. Legal proceedings and contingent liabilities

Sezzle may be subject to litigation and other claims and disputes in the course of its business, including employment disputes, contractual disputes or occupational and personal claims, which could adversely affect the Sezzle's business, reputation, operating and financial performance.

Appendix D

Summary of Underwriting Arrangements

Summary of Underwriting Arrangements

The Lead Manager is acting as lead manager and underwriter of the Placement. Sezzle entered into an underwriting agreement with the Lead Manager in respect of the Placement on 10 July 2020 (the Underwriting Agreement).

Key terms of the Underwriting Agreement

The Lead Manager's obligations under the Underwriting Agreement, including to underwrite and manage the Placement, are conditional on certain matters, including the timely delivery of certain due diligence materials and Sezzle having the benefit of necessary ASIC modifications to permit Sezzle to issue a cleansing notice under section 708A(5) and to conduct the SPP.

If certain conditions are not satisfied, or certain events occur, the Lead Manager may terminate the Underwriting Agreement. Termination of the Underwriting Agreement by the Lead Manager would have an adverse impact on the total amount of proceeds that could be raised under the Placement.

The events which may trigger termination of the Underwriting Agreement include (but are not limited to) the following:

- the Placement or SPP documents contain statements which are misleading or deceptive or omit information required by applicable laws or contain any forecasts or other forward-looking statements, expressions of opinion, belief, intention or expectation which, becomes incapable of being met or, in the reasonable opinion of the Lead Manager, becomes unlikely to be met in the projected timeframe;

- ASX announces that Sezzle will be removed from the official list of ASX, that any of its CDIs will be delisted or suspended from quotation by ASX;
- the S&P/ASX 200 Index is, at the close of trading on the ASX on any day before the settlement date, 10% or more below its level at market close on the business day before the date of the Underwriting Agreement;
- the Company withdraws the Placement or SPP;
- ASIC or the Takeovers Panel commences certain actions, proceedings or investigations in relation to the Placement, the SPP, Sezzle or its directors, officers, employees or agents (as applicable);
