Dear Dean

RESPONSE TO ASX AWARE QUERY

Cirralto Limited ('Company') refers to your letter dated 15 December 2020.

Using the numbering in your letter, we respond to your questions as follows:

1. The Company considered the information that a payments product offering was being developed by the Company as information that should be communicated to the market. The Westpay agreement at the time provided an initial platform for the Company to develop and deliver payments services, hence this agreement was announced on 7 September 2018. The Company notes that the Westpay agreement announcement had no impact on the price or volume of the Company's shares on the day of the announcement or the days immediately following the announcement.

On 24 January 2020, the Company made a further announcement that it would be utilising the services of other service providers to deliver its payments services. There are a number of merchant service providers in the market who were offering similar terms at standard market rates (materially similar to Westpay). The Company does not consider which merchant services provider it enters into an agreement with to be material price sensitive information. In March, the Company formalised a merchant services agreement with Fiserv via a relationship that was developed under the program of works undertaken in connection to the WestPay agreement. The merchant terms did not materially change, nor did the services or pricing, and as such the Company did not see this being either price sensitive or announceable (as the terms and services were materially similar to the terms and services initially intended to be delivered by Westpay).

The Company has entered into agreements with various service providers to deliver its payments services platform as part of its ordinary course of business activities. These various services allow the Company to deliver its payment services on the terms which were announced to the market in March 2020. Such services agreements entered into include agreements for merchant services, hosting partners for cloud storage and SMS services for 2 Step Authentication. These are standard services agreements required to deliver payments services and such agreements are on ordinary commercial terms readily available in the market and the Company does not consider these specific agreements require disclosure under the ASX Listing Rules or are price sensitive.

The Company has subsequently entered into agreements with Fiserv, Mastercard and Visa on significantly improved terms which will allow the Company to compete on service and pricing with other larger payments service providers, hence these agreements were immediately announced to ASX.

2. Yes, the agreement remains in place and has not been cancelled, however, the Company currently utilises other services providers to deliver the same or similar services. The Fiserv and WestPay agreements co-exist and are not mutually exclusive. However, Fiserv is the Company's exclusive merchant services provider under the recently announced BPSP agreement with VISA and the BPA agreement with Mastercard.
3. a) The Company is aware of ASX guidance on continuous disclosure with respect to naming counterparties to, and disclosing details of, market sensitive agreements. However, as set out above, the disclosure in January was not considered market sensitive or material. The merchant services are readily available on standard industry terms from various financial and banking services providers and such terms were not considered material. The Company had already announced it was establishing a payments platform and these agreements are for standard services required to establish such a platform.

b) The Fiserv and WestPay agreements co-exist and are not mutually exclusive.
4. The Fiserv and Mastercard agreement was executed on 11 December (after close of business) and announced immediately pre market open on 14 December.

The host was not aware of the Fiserv and Mastercard agreement, the reference to Mastercard was a coincidence and was a result of the hosts interpretation of a question submitted by an online attendee in relation to whether there are any potential plans to have Mastercard setup with a BPSP with Cirralto. The Company made no reference to the Fiserv and Mastercard agreement during the presentation.

Please note that such arrangements with Mastercard and Visa are critical to allow CRO to compete with larger payments service providers and as such it would be reasonable to assume that as a payments services provider the Company would be seeking to enter into such an agreement with Mastercard.

5. As outlined in the response to question 4 above, the Company confirms that it disclosed the Fiserv and Mastercard agreement in accordance with Listing Rule 3.1 to the ASX on 14 December 2020.
6. The Company confirms that it is in compliance with Listing Rule 3.1. and that there is no information that should be given to ASX about its financial condition in accordance with that rule.

7. The Company confirms that the responses to the questions above have been authorised by its Board of Directors.

Yours sincerely

- H. The definition of 'aware' in Chapter 19 of the Listing Rules, which states that:
- 'an entity becomes aware of information if, and as soon as, an officer of the entity (or, in the case of a trust, an officer of the responsible entity) has, or ought reasonably to have, come into possession of the information in the course of the performance of their duties as an officer of that entity' and section 4.4 in Guidance Note 8 Continuous Disclosure: Listing Rules 3.1 – 3.1B "When does an entity become aware of information.'*

- K. Listing Rule 15.7 which states:

'An entity must not release information that is for release to the market to any person until it has given the information to ASX and has received an acknowledgment that ASX has released information to the market.'
