

ASX ANNOUNCEMENT: RightCrowd is now available for trading on the OTCQB market in the United States.

Highlights:

- RightCrowd announces that its ordinary shares are now also available for trading via the OTCQB market in the U.S.
- Registration on the OTCQB market provides efficient access to RightCrowd shares for U.S. investors, ultimately enhancing liquidity and valuation.
- RightCrowd can be traded on the OTCQB market courtesy of stock code RCWDF.
- There will be no change for investors trading on the ASX where the RightCrowd stock code is RCW.

RightCrowd, a leading provider of safety, security and compliance solutions, announced today that its ordinary shares are available for quotation on the OTCQB, a United States trading platform that is operated by the OTC Markets Group Inc. in New York.

The OTCQB is recognized by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission as an established public market providing public information for analysis and value of securities. As a verified market with efficient access for U.S. investors, OTCQB helps companies build shareholder value with a goal of enhancing liquidity and achieving a fair valuation.

"We have seen a growing level of interest in RightCrowd from U.S. based sophisticated investors as they seek financial exposure to the rapidly expanding security sector", said Peter Hill, CEO of RightCrowd. "The OTC market will provide access to RightCrowd shares for the significant U.S. investor base with interest in owning innovative technology companies in growing market segments."

The Company's shares will continue to trade on the Australian Stock Exchange (the ASX) under the symbol RCW and on the OTCQB under the symbol RCWDF.
