Tinybeans’ CEO, Eddie Geller, said:

“We are proud to follow up our success in Q4 FY21 with what is anticipated to be another record-breaking quarter in Q1 FY22. The US$2.6M in revenues we expect this quarter represents not only significant growth from the same period a year ago, but also a 10% improvement from the prior quarter, despite Q1 typically being a seasonally weak period. We believe this revenue growth demonstrates the strength of the Tinybeans’ brand, the value proposition for our growing base of advertising partners and the many families that turn to us as a secure and comprehensive source for all things parenting. We are confident we can continue to grow advertising revenues as we build our complementary subscription revenues.

Also, we’re thrilled to report that we are entering Q2 FY22 with over US$2.2M in direct advertising contracts signed. Generating this momentum in a time of platform transition demonstrates the continued strength and growth potential of our advertising business. As we approach the impending launch of our new platform, we are forging ahead in executing on our strategy and working to drive continued growth in FY22 and beyond.”

The Company expects to release full results for Q1-FY22 on or around Oct 26/27, 2021, in the US and Australia, respectively.

This announcement was approved for release by the CEO.
