PORTFOLIO REVIEW

The portfolio returned 5.21% for the month while the Small Ordinaries Accumulation Index returned 5.26% for the month. The small cap market did however underperform the ASX 100 which was up 6.6% for the month. The strength in the index return was driven by small resources which had a strong month returning 12.2%, caused by a general appreciation in most commodity prices due to events in the Ukraine and the battery mineral outlook. The small industrials returned 2.19% for the month.

PORTFOLIO COMPANY UPDATES

Our top 3 largest contributors to performance during this month were Metgasco (MEL), Uniti Group (UWL) and Johns Lyng Group (JLG), while Eagle Mountain Mining (EM2), Pacific Smiles Group (PSQ) and Healthia (HLA) were the largest detractors from portfolio performance.

Metgasco

While Metgasco was the largest contributor to performance during the month, it has subsequently pulled back quite significantly after the Cervantes-1 well was found to not be economic and has been abandoned. This does not change the economics or future cashflow of the company based on our modelling of the existing assets.

Uniti Group

Unity was the subject of a takeover offer via a scheme of arrangement which saw the company receive a final offer of $5.00 per share post the end of the month after there were several parties interested in acquiring the company.

Johns Lyng Group

With recent severe weather patterns on the east coast of Australia, JLG will have an attractive pipeline of work building up from insurance claims for the repairs to water and flood damaged properties. While this work will not yield significant cash impacts for the second half of FY22, it provides a good trajectory for FY23.

Eagle Mountain Mining

Eagle Mountain raised capital during the month at a discount to the prevailing share price. We participated in the capital raising, which will allow the company to upgrade the resources at the Oracle Ridge project. The money was raised at $0.45 and the shares have traded back to that level.

Pacific Smiles Group

Pacific Smiles is still suffering from the impacts of Covid and the fear that patients have with having a dentist in close proximity. Other than the short-term revenue impacts, the practice rollout is still continuing and the company will be well placed when patient sentiment improves.

Healthia

Like Pacific Smiles, Healthia has suffered impacts from Covid and the nature of their close contact with patients. While we and the market were slightly disappointed with the interim result, the company is well funded and still has a strong pipeline of acquisitions ahead of it.
