Impact's Managing Director Dr Mike Jones said "We are very pleased to have raised this significant amount from shareholders and new investors in what has been the most volatile market for several years. We are now funded for our exploration programmes on our significant and exciting battery and strategic metals projects here in Western Australia for the next 18 months. We have recently completed drill programmes and soil geochemistry surveys at several of our projects as well as an airborne EM survey over our flagship Arkun project.

We look forward to analysing the results of all of this work and getting on with follow up drilling. We thank everyone for their significant support in this raising and in particular our lead manager Mahe Capital. Given the success of the raising we have decided to now close the issue and will not be placing any further shortfall."

The net proceeds will enable the Company to complete its early-stage exploration programmes across its battery and strategic project portfolio in Western Australia. At the flagship Arkun Project, a major airborne electromagnetic (EM) survey has just been completed and extensive follow up soil geochemistry and ground geophysical surveys will now be undertaken to define drill targets to be tested in late 2022 and 2023.

The Company would like to thank all its shareholders for their support of the Issue and would like to welcome new investors to the register. It is noted that the Company's directors also took up their full entitlements, demonstrating a strong commitment to and confidence in the Company's projects and its future.
