MONTHLY UPDATE

For the month of May 2022, the KKR Credit Income Fund (“KKC” or the “Trust”) recorded a total net return of -2.25%<sup>2</sup>.

KKC declared a distribution of A$0.01 (+0.41%<sup>1</sup>) for the month. KKC expects investors to receive A$0.01 per month for the current financial year<sup>2</sup>. This is in line with the announced FY22 distribution estimate of A$0.12 or 4.80% (based on Issue Price). Assuming the month-end unit price, this represents a target distribution yield of ~5.85% (i.e. A$0.12c/A$2.05).

Rising interest rate expectations have driven negative sentiment within the high-yield (HY) bond market as recessionary concerns caused investors to be worried about lower rated positions. This negative sentiment has caused a notable amount of broad based selling – good names are getting hampered by overall selling rather than what is going on in the fundamental business. Notably, fundamentals have remained stable and ~50% of HY companies have beaten EBITDA expectations. We believe KKC is well positioned to benefit from further market volatility and the opportunities that arise.

The Yield to Maturity for the underlying assets in KKC (which is inversely impacted by an increase in price), stood at 10.5% as at month end<sup>4</sup>. The weighted average price of assets in the portfolio stands at 91.9. The current yield of the underlying assets in the portfolio was 7.6% as at month end<sup>4</sup>.

Some month to month changes in the underlying portfolio are as follows. All movements reference the portfolio change between 30 April 2022 and 31 May 2022<sup>5</sup>:

- The number of issuers in the portfolio decreased from 176 to 174;

- The concentration of the top 10 holdings reduced from 22.7% to 21.8%. Movement in the top 10 relates to the calling/repayment of US Aerospace & Defense business Sequa Corp’s floating rate loans. The top 10 are further detailed on the next page;
- Defaulted assets continue to be low for KKC with 0% of the portfolio (% based upon Market Value) rated as “D” by Rating Agencies<sup>6</sup>;
- The proportion of floating rate assets decreased to 65%. Loans and other floating rate assets can act as a natural hedge against inflation and rising interest rates as the coupons are generally based on 3-month LIBOR (i.e. quarterly rate reset or duration of ~0.25yrs). The portfolio is still intentionally overweight floating rate assets and has a low duration of 1.5 years compared to ~4 years for the bond market as a whole;
- Consumer Discretionary and Industrials remain the two largest sectors at 25% and 23% respectively. The fund is also deliberately underweight Energy with only 1% of the portfolio invested in this sector;
- KKC’s exposure to senior assets currently stands at 89%.

European Direct Lending (EDL) invested into one new deal during the month; a UK Insurance Brokerage business. There were no realisations during the month.

EDL was ~60% net deployed (on a Cost basis) across 30 privately originated assets as at month end.
