Steve Parsons to remain top-15 shareholder after moving to non-executive role

Bellevue Gold Limited (Bellevue or Company) (ASX: BGL) advises that Steve Parsons has reduced his shareholding in the Company following his move from Managing Director to Non-executive Director (refer to ASX announcement dated 20 February 2023).

Mr Parsons has sold 17 million Bellevue shares, leaving him with a total holding of approximately 17m Bellevue shares. Following the sale, Mr Parsons remains a top-15 shareholder in Bellevue.

The key management transitions announced yesterday (refer to ASX announcement dated 20 February 2023) will see Steve Parsons end his six-year tenure as Bellevue Managing Director where he led the Company from the initial Tribune lode discovery of the Bellevue Project and move to a Non-executive Director role at the Company.

Bellevue Chairman Kevin Tomlinson said: "Steve's decision to reduce his shareholding is appropriate given his move to a non-executive position. His holding is now commensurate with his new role".

Mr Parsons was appointed as a Director of Bellevue in March 2017, shortly after the Company acquired the mothballed Bellevue gold mine in WA. He led the exploration and development strategy which has resulted in Bellevue being poised for production and cashflow this year. During his six-year tenure, Mr Parsons established his shareholding through a combination of the Company's incentive schemes and on-market purchases.
