Financial Performance – H1 FY23

- Total pay advances grew by 130% YoY to $303.9m driven by both new customer acquisition and continued usage by existing customers.
- Active users grew to 203,937, up 47% YoY on H1 FY22 (139,071).
- Beforepay income increased by 145% YoY from $5.95m to $14.57m in H1 FY23. Beforepay generates its revenue through charging users a fixed fee of 5% per pay advance received which is recognised over the period in which the pay advance is repaid.
- Net transaction loss % declined to 2.3% in H1 FY23, down 21% YoY from 2.9% in H1 FY22. This is driven by continued refinements to Beforepay's credit risk model and pay advance limit management. The net transaction loss was partially offset by recoveries which continued to perform well during the half year.
- Direct service costs as a percentage of pay advances declined to 0.3% in H1 FY23 (previously 0.7% in H1 FY22). Our direct service costs generally do not vary with the size of the pay advance.
- Net transaction margin % (of pay advances) increased 467% to 1.7% in H1 FY23 compared to 0.3% in H1 FY22, driven primarily by lower net transaction losses.
- Total operating expenses (excluding one off and/or significant items) were $10.56m in H1 FY23, which decreased 17% from $12.76m in H1 FY22 due to reduced advertising costs, non-recurrence of some one-off expenses and lower employee costs.

² Cash position as at 31 December 2022 represents statutory cash and cash equivalents (including held by third parties).

Beforepay

- Within these operating expense numbers, advertising and marketing expenses attributable to customer acquisition were $3.46m in H1 FY23 or 49% lower than H1 FY22 ($6.76m). This was primarily driven by the reduction in above-the-line advertising and additional focus on optimising performance marketing expenditure during H1 FY23 resulting in average customer acquisition cost (CAC) declining 54% to $59 in H1 FY23 from $129 in H1 FY22. Employee, general and administration and other costs were $7.10m in H1 FY23 or 11% lower than H1 FY22 ($7.98m), reflecting lower headcount and cost management initiatives.
- EBITDA loss (excluding one-off and significant items) was ($2.73m), down 76% from ($11.19m) in H1 FY22, driven by the increase in net transaction margin, lower net transaction losses and reduced operating expenses during the current half year period. The prior half year period included higher non-recurring IPO and investment related expenses.

Outlook

- Consistent with previous years, management expects that defaults will stabilise in line with normal seasonal trends.
- Q3 FY23 year-to-date growth in new user numbers and pay advance numbers have been consistent with the prior quarter.

Balance sheet

- Reported cash on hand as at H1 FY23 was $18.7m compared to $28.4m at FY22, reflecting the growth in customer pay advances and loss after income tax for the half year period. Cash utilisation of $9.7m during the half year comprised cash from operating activities ($18.2m), cash from investment activities ($ Nil) less cash from financing activities ($8.5m). Cash from operating activities includes the growth of the loan book due to issuing more advances. Cash on hand as at H1 FY21 was $8.8m reflecting the cash position prior to the IPO capital raising in January 2022.
- As at H1 FY23, Beforepay had drawn $29.5m under its third-party debt facility ($15.5m undrawn), up from $20.7m in FY22 to fund the net growth in pay advances during the half. The third-party debt facility has a capacity which increases to $45.0m by December 2023 and expires in January 2024.
- Beforepay had a total equity position of $28.5m as at H1 FY23. This compares to $32.6m as at FY22.
- Beforepay retains a highly capital efficient model with an average pay advance duration³ of approximately 25 days. As a result, the third-party funding cost of the average pay advance⁴ is c. 0.64% of the amount advanced, based on a 25-day loan duration. A 1% increase in interest rate would increase this to approximately 0.69%.

Growth strategy

- Beforepay's growth strategy through new customer acquisition and customer retention remains unchanged. The momentum of growth in both revenue and user numbers combined with a positive net transaction margin demonstrates that the Company is successfully executing its strategy.

³ The average time required across all pay advances in a period to fully repay the pay advance. Pay advances which default and remain unsettled are removed.

⁴ The total dollar value of pay advances in a period divided by the number of pay advances in that period.
