  - Legacy contracts and cultural problems have hampered the turnaround activities, particularly in Building Solutions
  - Newly-imposed discipline and personnel changes should deliver improved financial and operational performance
- Community Solutions’ Searipple facility will benefit from significant future projects planned in the oil and gas, fertiliser, and green energy sectors

- Reduced supply chain issues, improving labour supply and declining raw material prices alleviate the headwinds CYG has faced in the past 2 years
- Whilst free cash flow generation has lagged top line and profit growth, there has been significant improvement in this metric over the past 12 months
- The industrial distribution industry remains fragmented, providing consolidation opportunities

- The company owns 19ha of land at the Geelong Port
- Since Tony McKenna (MD) joined in early 2022, loss-making businesses have been closed and its plantations and other non-core property assets have been sold
- We estimate that legacy currency contracts have cost the company $30m over the past 18-24 months, thereby delaying the turnaround in financial performance. These contracts rolled off on 31-Dec-22
- MWY is establishing an asset management business, specialising in the management of forestry assets, including carbon credits
- Due to working capital requirements, the consideration of a special dividend of 19.5c has been deferred until the FY23 results in August
