PlaySide Publishing Signs First Game Title

PlaySide Studios Limited (ASX: PLY) ("PlaySide") is pleased to announce that Rocket Flair Studios' Dynasty of the Sands is the first title to be signed to its publishing division, PlaySide Publishing.

Set to launch in Early Access on PC in 2024, Dynasty of the Sands is an Ancient Egypt-inspired creative/survival city builder hybrid set in a stunning open world. Further details about the game can be found in the following teaser trailer on YouTube:

PlaySide will provide Rocket Flair Studios with development advances in accordance with agreed milestones that are consistent with industry benchmark requirements for bringing the game to launch. PlaySide is responsible for publishing and marketing the title, and will pay Rocket Flair Studios a share of net revenue from the sale of the game as part of this agreement.

While PlaySide cannot predict the likely revenues to be generated by the game our 1HFY23 Investor Deck* provides some general assumptions regarding the potential performance of indie titles.

We are thrilled to be working with Rocket Flair Studios in bringing its vision for a relaxing, creative strategy game to life. After spending ten months building a team of world-class talent to support PlaySide's expansion into publishing, this signing represents what we anticipate will be the first of many exciting indie titles to be released under the PlaySide Publishing banner.
