NATIONAL COVERAGE IN THE AUTOMOTIVE INDUSTRY

In brief

RPM business units offer wheels, tyres, accessories and apparel to both wholesale and retail (B2B commercial, industrial and consumer) customers

Successful record of integration

12 strategic acquisitions since Sept 2020 - leveraging operational capability (shared services) - freeing up customer facing personnel to best serve our customer

Scale drives operational leverage

Increasing economies of scale and margins through cross-selling expanded product ranges to different customer groups

Leveraging capability and footprint

Adding new products, services and customers to the national footprint

Substantial market opportunity

Highly fragmented industry ripe for consolidation...demand for services outstrips supply in retail

CASE STUDY

Criteria

- Expand the national footprint and product range to leverage operational capability to drive sales and returns

Target characteristics

- Existing customers already familiar with RPM products
- Areas where RPM has customers and being serviced by 3rd party suppliers
- Extensive wholesale distribution network
- Can drive greater competitiveness in the market

Case Study: Metro Tyres – acquired Jan 2023

- Sales 2H23 $5.9m (1H23 $4.96m) up 19%
- Gross Profit 2H23 $1.86m (1H23 $1.46m) up 27%
- GP Margins 2H23 32% (1H23 29%)

Other Initiatives implemented

- Optimising shared services, allowing Metro to spend more time driving sales
- Consolidating 2 operations (Penrith and Prestons) under 1 reporting structure to maximise resource efficiencies
- Increasing wholesale business: target 30-50% of COGS of the retail businesses with customer's purchasing 10-15% of their COGS from RPM
- Automatic qualification for maximum supplier discounts
