Global Health Limited (ASX:GLH) (“Global Health” or “the Group”) is pleased to announce a strategic reseller agreement with Fujitsu Australia Ltd to promote, sell and deliver implementation and support services to the healthcare industry across 13 countries within the Asia Pacific region.

Extend market reach through committed partners with local presence

The agreement is in line with Global Health's strategy to work with resellers that have a strong presence in the multiple jurisdictions that are seeking to digitize healthcare. The SaaS re-platforming of the company's provider platforms is designed to support local Revenue Cycle modules that will enable its platforms to reflect local business practices, reporting and other country-specific infrastructure such as payment wallets and TPAs (Third Party Insurance Administrators).

End-to-end sales and service capabilities to accelerate growth

Global Health will leverage the scale and expertise of Fujitsu, a global digital transformation company, to expand its capabilities to new markets and geographies, and streamline the implementation and deployment of its solutions. This will help accelerate market growth, whilst also allowing Global Health to maintain a constant focus on improving and developing its software solutions.

Full patient-centered engagement portfolio

The agreement covers the complete portfolio comprising the MasterCare suite of Electronic Medical Records for hospitals and community health services, Patient Administration, Practice Management, HotHealth digital front door for online engagement between healthcare providers and their patients, Lifecard Personal Health Record for patients and the ReferralNet Secure Message Delivery of sensitive clinical and patient information.

Fujitsu's Head of Industry - Health Ian Manovel said:

“Fujitsu recognises that Global Health's solutions excel in addressing the evolving needs of the healthcare industry, offering exceptional value for customers seeking to thrive in this competitive environment. This strategic relationship represents a significant stride towards our shared vision of transforming healthcare technology.”

Global Health Managing Director Mathew Cherian said:

“Together, this strategic relationship will empower customers to improve patient experience, enhance workforce satisfaction and boost population health more cost-effectively.”
