Cyber Incident Update

Eagers Automotive Limited (ASX: APE) ("Eagers Automotive" or "the Company") refers to its Cyber Incident Update issued on 2 January 2024.

In that update, the Company confirmed that it was investigating the incident, with the support of external experts. While these investigations remain ongoing, the Company has already informed the market that the incident involved unauthorised access to parts of the Company's IT systems by a third party, which illegally accessed and removed data.

The Company has now become aware of a claim by the third party suggesting it has published data online that it alleges was removed from the Company's IT environment.

Eagers Automotive is investigating this claim as part of its ongoing response, which is expected to take some time to complete. The Company will continue to monitor for any further claims of the publication of data removed from its IT environment.

As part of the Company's response to the incident, it has undertaken a number of containment and remediation activities. The operational impact of the IT outages on the Company initially experienced as a result of the incident have been largely mitigated across all regions and business divisions.

The Company will continue to update all relevant stakeholders as further information becomes available.

The Company is progressing with the assessment of the information that the third party has accessed and/or removed from our IT environment and is actively identifying and contacting affected individuals in accordance with its obligations and providing support and guidance.

The Company confirms the financial impact of the cyber incident is not expected to be material for the 2024 Financial Year.

For personal use only

The Company is continuing to engage with the relevant regulators and government agencies, including the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner, Department of Home Affairs and the Australian Cyber Security Centre.
