Plans to recruit sales and marketing staff to drive sales in all direct markets continue, particularly in the U.S. The Company expects strong revenue growth to continue following sales force expansion in 2023, with a continued focus on penetrating existing customer accounts, new account acquisition and new markets. Except as otherwise set out in this report, the Directors are not aware of any significant changes in the principal activities of PolyNovo during the financial half-year ended 31 December 2023.

Financial Result

The Group recorded revenue of $48,765,000 (2022: $29,455,000) for the period. The net profit of the Group attributable to the parent entity for the period, after income tax was $2,694,000 (2022: $3,825,000 loss). Net profit before income tax was $1,087,000 (2022: $3,857,000 loss).

The Group increased commercial sales of product locally and overseas with revenue of $42,237,000 for the period (2022: $27,259,000). Product sales continued to grow as the Company gained market penetration in the U.S. through an expanded sales force and customer base, and effective marketing activities. Revenue from the BARDA contract was $4,912,000 for the period (2022: $2,107,000). This increase reflects the increase in recruitment of patients for the pivotal trial.

The Group recorded other income of $758,000 for the period (2022: $16,000) of which $722,000 related to a one-off U.S. Government COVID-19 assistance for the period 1 April 2020 to 31 March 2021. Employee expenses of $27,500,000 were recognised for the period (2022: $17,671,000). The increase in underlying employee expenses is due to headcount increases in sales staff, production, supply chain and R&D to drive sales growth and product development. The rate of employee expense growth was 55.6% for the period, decreasing compared to the prior period (2022: 131.5%).

Research and development costs of $4,872,000 (2022: $3,037,000) were recognised for the period. The projects include the extension of the NovoSorb BTM and NovoSorb MTX portfolio, hernia prototype development, and other projects to support new product development.

Corporate, administrative, and overhead expenses recognised for the Period have increased to $11,896,000 (2022: $9,654,000). Insurance premiums, professional and information technology expenses increased due to the growth in the size of the business. The rate of corporate, administrative, and overhead expenses growth was 23.2% for the period, decreasing compared to the prior period (2022: 105.8%)

Unrealised exchange loss recognised for the period was $1,060,000 (2022: gain of $34,000) due to the increase in the U.S Dollar against the Australian Dollar. Inventory/finished goods on hand was $6,888,000 (June 2023: $4,530,000).

Cash and Short-term Investments

As of 31 December 2023, PolyNovo held total cash, including short-term investments, of $45,580,000 (June 2023: $46,847,000). NovoSorb BTM

NovoSorb BTM was developed to treat full thickness dermal defects and is comprised of a 2mm biodegradable foam and sealing membrane. In response to clinical requests, there are plans to expand the NovoSorb BTM product portfolio to include both thicker and thinner foam to accommodate the full range of dermal thickness across the body. Additionally, a range of sizes are being developed to address wrapping of fingers, hands, legs, and torso.

NovoSorb BTM is sold directly by PolyNovo sales force Australia, Hong Kong, India, New Zealand, Singapore, United Kingdom, and the United States. The Company utilises distributors for sales in Canada, EMEA, and Taiwan. The Company is working on obtaining regulatory approvals in other markets to quickly expand its geographical footprint.

NovoSorb BTM continues to feature in major clinical conference presentations around the world. Many new clinical papers have been published in peer review journals and the surgeon-to-surgeon referral of the benefits of NovoSorb BTM continues to accelerate.

NovoSorb BTM publications (cumulative)

NovoSorb BTM Indication for Full Thickness Burns

NovoSorb BTM is indicated for full thickness or third degree burns in markets outside of the U.S. Full thickness burns treatment for a U.S. FDA regulatory 'indication' requires additional clinical evidence (trials). A pivotal trial is in progress and funded by the Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority ('BARDA'). Successful completion of this trial will enable PolyNovo to file a PMA application for full thickness burn use.

U.S. Burns Pivotal Trial

The BARDA contract funded by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (Office of the Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response) commenced on 28 September 2015. The pivotal trial is funded by BARDA to US$25 million after extending the contract in FY21 plus additional funding support in 2023. The contract is a cost-plus monthly reimbursement arrangement, and the Company will contribute to the trial through provision of product, employee resources and infrastructure support.

The first patient was enrolled into the trial in September 2021. Patients are currently being recruited through 25 U.S. burn centres, 1 site in Canada, and 2 sites in India, with another site in India currently in the process of being enrolled. The Company has passed the mid-way point for recruitment, with 90 patients enrolled of a target of 120. Recruitment is expected to be completed in FY24.

Dr Marcus Wagstaff is the Medical Director overseeing the clinical conduct of PolyNovo trials and providing valuable clinical support for our global medical teams. Dr. Tina Palmieri, UC Davis Sacramento, and Dr. Sigrid Blome Eberwein, Lehigh Valley, are the co-principal investigators for the pivotal trial study.

NovoSorb BTM already has the CE Mark, a requirement for the EU (European Union) market, which includes an indication for use in full thickness burns as well as other surgical wounds and reconstructive procedures.

NovoSorb SynPath

The Company has reviewed the protocol used in our randomised control trial (RCT) of non-healing diabetic foot ulcers, to make sure that the Mode of Action of NovoSorb SynPath is not compromised, and the device is working effectively in the patient population. As a consequence of the review, the protocol will be rewritten, and the treatment performed only in an inpatient setting. This will enable us to better control the wound bed preparation and application.

As a result of this review we have also accelerated our efforts in the area of limb salvage in the inpatient setting.

NovoSorb MTX

NovoSorb MTX is available in a range of sizes to address acute and chronic dermal wounds and is comprised of a 2mm biodegradable foam with no sealing membrane. The Company initiated a limited market release in the U.S. in early 2023 and following the collection of clinical data, a full market release will commence in 2024. Similar to the NovoSorb BTM portfolio, both thicker and thinner versions of the NovoSorb MTX are being developed to address an expanding range of clinical indications. NovoSorb MTX and NovoSorb BTM are complementary, and clinicians are using both products for the treatment of soft tissue defects. A 510(k) submission covers an increased NovoSorb MTX thickness range and was submitted to the FDA in late 2023, with further product extensions anticipated in 2024.

The NovoSorb BTM and NovoSorb MTX portfolio of products address an increasing range of clinical needs, including deep dermal defects and other wound types. However, some dermal defects, including tunnelling wounds, are irregular and can be difficult to fill with sheet products alone. A particulate version of NovoSorb MTX that retains the same polymer micro-architecture of the NovoSorb MTX is in development for this purpose and can be used to fill irregular defects either alone or in combination with NovoSorb BTM and NovoSorb MTX.

Implantable Applications

The Company continues to invest in research and development to explore the potential of the NovoSorb technology in implantable applications, including hernia repair, abdominal wall reconstruction, orthopaedic soft tissue reinforcement, and plastic reconstructive surgery (PRS).

The current focus is developing surgical mesh products for hernia repair and PRS. A range of NovoSorb monofilaments have been successfully developed and used to create woven surgical mesh prototypes that will meet regulatory and clinical requirements for hernia repair, and match or exceed the product profile of current market-leading resorbable mesh products. The unique attributes of the NovoSorb polymer will differentiate our woven surgical mesh products and constructs from other resorbable polymer-based products on the market. A range of surgical mesh product prototypes are in development with differing biomechanical properties (strength, pliability, stretch) to address distinct market segments, including simple hernia repair, ventral hernia, abdominal wall reconstruction, and post-mastectomy tissue reinforcement. Implantable product prototypes are being evaluated in preclinical models.

NovoSorb Dermal Beta-Cell Implant

The Company continues to supply NovoSorb BTM in modified sizes to Beta Cell Technologies ('BCT'), an Adelaide based, third-party R&D group. BCT have identified an opportunity to design, develop and implement a novel Intracutaneous Ectopic Pancreas ('EIP') to treat Type 1 Diabetes ('T1D') at scale. BCT has completed its first human trial (3 patient trial using NovoSorb BTM and donor islet cells) in delivering a novel IEP and early results are promising with full trial results being published late in 2024. If successful, this treatment holds significant promise for treating T1D with reduces reliance on a donor pancreas.

Significant Events after the Balance Date

The Directors are not aware of any other matters or circumstances since the end of the period or otherwise dealt with in this report, which have significantly affected, or may significantly affect, the operations of the Group, the results of those operations or the state of affairs of the Group in subsequent financial years.

Announcements released by the Company after 31 December 2023 include:

- 10 January 2024 – Presentation to J.P. Morgan Healthcare Conference
- 22 January 2024 – 1H24 Trading Result (unaudited)

Inherent Risks of Investment in Biotechnology Companies

There are many inherent risks associated with the development of medical devices and bringing them to market. The clinical trial process is designed to assess the safety and efficacy of a medical device prior to commercialisation and a significant proportion of medical devices fail one or both criteria. Other risks include uncertainty of patent protection and proprietary rights, whether patent applications and issued patents will offer adequate protection to enable product development, the obtaining of necessary regulatory authority approvals and uncertainties caused by the rapid advancements in technology.

Companies such as PolyNovo are in part dependent on the success of their research projects and on the ability to attract funding to support these activities.

Investment in research and development projects cannot be assessed on the same fundamentals as trading and manufacturing enterprises. Investment in companies such as PolyNovo must be regarded as risky and highly speculative. PolyNovo strongly recommends that professional investment advice be sought prior to investing in the Company.

The Company recognises it has an impact on the environment, directly through its operations, and indirectly through its value chain. The clinical benefits of NovoSorb BTM include improvements to health economics for hospitals, such as a reduction of patient days in hospital. The Company is committed to minimising the environmental impact of its operations and products.

Forward-looking Statements

Certain statements in this Half-Year Report contain forward-looking statements regarding the Company's business and the therapeutic and commercial potential of its technologies and products in development. Any statement describing the Company's goals, expectations, intentions, or beliefs is a forward-looking statement and should be considered an at-risk statement. Such statements are subject to certain risks and uncertainties, particularly those risks or uncertainties inherent in the process of discovering, developing and commercialising drugs and medical devices that can be proven to be safe and effective for use in humans, and in the endeavour of building a business around such products and services. PolyNovo undertakes no obligation to publicly update any forward-looking statement, whether as a result of new information, future events, or otherwise. Actual results could differ materially from those discussed in this report. As a result, readers of this report are cautioned not to rely on forward looking statements. Consideration should be given to these and other risks concerning the Company's research and development program referred to in this report.

Significant Changes in the State of Affairs

There were no significant changes in the state of affairs of the Group during the financial half-year other than those included in this Directors' report.

31 December 2023

Note 1. Corporate Information

The financial statements cover PolyNovo Limited as a Group consisting of PolyNovo Limited and the entities it controlled at the end of, or during, the half-year. The financial statements are presented in Australian dollars, which is PolyNovo Limited's functional and presentation currency.

PolyNovo Limited is a listed public company limited by shares, incorporated and domiciled in Australia. Its registered office and principal place of business are:

Registered office

320 Lorimer Street, Port Melbourne, VIC, 3207

Principal place of business

320 Lorimer Street, Port Melbourne, VIC, 3207

The financial statements were authorised for issue, in accordance with a resolution of directors, on 27 February 2024.

Note 2. Basis of Preparation of the Half-Year Financial Report

These general purpose financial statements for the interim half-year reporting period ended 31 December 2023 ("the period") have been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Standard AASB 134 Interim Financial Reporting and the Corporations Act 2001, as appropriate for for-profit oriented entities. Compliance with AASB 134 ensures compliance with International Financial Reporting Standard IAS 34 Interim Financial Reporting.

These general purpose financial statements do not include all the notes of the type normally included in annual financial statements. Accordingly, these financial statements are to be read in conjunction with the annual report for the year ended 30 June 2023 and any public announcements made by the Company during the interim reporting period in accordance with the continuous disclosure requirements of the Corporations Act 2001 and ASX Listing Rules.

The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of the interim condensed consolidated financial statements are consistent with those followed in the preparation of the Group's annual consolidated financial statements for the year ended 30 June 2023, except for the adoption of new standards effective as of 1 July 2023. The Group has not early adopted any standard, interpretation or amendment that has been issued but is not yet effective.

(a) Basis of accounting

This half-year financial report for the period ended 31 December 2023 is a condensed set of financial statements, which has been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Corporations Act 2001, AASB 134 Interim Financial Reporting and other mandatory professional reporting requirements.

The half-year financial report has been prepared on an historical cost basis. The half-year financial report is presented in Australian dollars.

For the purpose of preparing the half-year financial report, the half-year has been treated as a discrete reporting period.

Government grants

Government grants are recognised when there is reasonable assurance that the grant will be received and all attaching conditions will be complied with.

(b) New or amended Accounting Standards and Interpretations adopted

The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of the interim condensed consolidated financial statements are consistent with those followed in the preparation of the Group's annual consolidated financial statements for the year ended 30 June 2023. A number of amendments and interpretations were applied for the first time in this half-year reporting period but did not have a material impact on the interim consolidated financial statements of the Group.

(c) Critical accounting judgements, estimates and assumptions

The preparation of the financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts in the financial statements. Management continually evaluates its judgements and estimates in relation to assets, liabilities, contingent liabilities, revenue and expenses. Management bases its judgements, estimates and assumptions on historical experience and on other various factors, including expectations of future events that management believes to be reasonable under the circumstances. The resulting accounting judgements and estimates will seldom equal the related actual results. The judgement, estimates and assumptions applied in the Half-Year Financial Report, including the key sources of estimation uncertainty, are the same as those applied in the annual report for the year ended 30 June 2023.

On 7 March 2020, the U.S. government enacted the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (the "Act") which provides tax relief and incentives to help in the recovery of business that were partially or fully suspended operations during the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020. One of the benefits is the Employee Retention Credit for Employers Subject to Closure Due to COVID-19 ("ERC") which provides a credit against applicable employment taxes for eligible employers for eligible wages paid to employees. The ERC program was subsequently extended to 31 December 2021.

PolyNovo North America LLC (PNA) was assessed by external tax professional to be eligible for ERC from 1 April 2020 to 31 March 2021 with tax credits totalling $722,000 (US$483,000) available from the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS"). This tax credit was recognised as other income for the half-year ended 31 December 2023.

On 14 September 2023, the IRS announced a moratorium on processing of new ERC claims following growing concerns that a substantial share of new claims from the program are ineligible due to aggressive marketing by tax promoters. A specific resumption date has not been determined. Whilst there is a delay in receiving the tax credits from the IRS which is expected within the financial year, those charged with governance and management are satisfied that the recognition criteria have been met.

Potential tax benefit at 30% (31 December 2022: 25%)	28,172	24,110

The availability of the tax losses in future periods is uncertain and will be dependent on the Group satisfying strict requirements with respect to continuity of ownership and the same business test, imposed by income tax legislation. The recoupment of available tax losses as at 31 December 2023 is contingent upon the following:

- the Group deriving future assessable income of a nature and of an amount sufficient to enable the benefit from the losses to be realised;
- the conditions for deductibility imposed by tax legislation continuing to be complied with; and
- there being no changes in tax legislation that would adversely affect the Group from realising the benefit from the losses.

The Group has recognised, for the first time, a net deferred tax asset with regard to unused tax losses and timing differences for PolyNovo North America LLC.

Given the Group's history of recent losses, the Group has not recognised a net deferred tax asset with regard to unused tax losses in other tax jurisdictions, as it has not been determined that the Group will generate sufficient future taxable profit against which the unused tax losses can be utilised in those tax jurisdictions.

Independent auditor's review report to the members of PolyNovo Limited

Conclusion

We have reviewed the accompanying half-year financial report of PolyNovo Limited (the Company) and its subsidiaries (collectively the Group), which comprises the Statement of Financial Position as at 31 December 2023, the Statement of Profit or Loss and Other Comprehensive Income, Statement of Cash Flows and Statement of Changes in Equity for the half-year ended on that date, notes comprising a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information, and the directors' declaration.

Based on our review, which is not an audit, we have not become aware of any matter that makes us believe that the half-year financial report of the Group does not comply with the Corporations Act 2001, including:

- a. Giving a true and fair view of the consolidated financial position of the Group as at 31 December 2023 and of its consolidated financial performance for the half-year ended on that date; and
- b. Complying with Accounting Standard AASB 134 Interim Financial Reporting and the Corporations Regulations 2001.

Basis for conclusion

We conducted our review in accordance with ASRE 2410 Review of a Financial Report Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity (ASRE 2410). Our responsibilities are further described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the review of the half-year financial report section of our report. We are independent of the Group in accordance with the auditor independence requirements of the Corporations Act 2001 and the ethical requirements of the Accounting Professional and Ethical Standards Board's APES 110 Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (including Independence Standards) (the Code) that are relevant to our audit of the annual financial report in Australia. We have also fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the Code.

Directors' responsibilities for the half-year financial report

The directors of the Company are responsible for the preparation of the half-year financial report that gives a true and fair view in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards and the Corporations Act 2001 and for such internal control as the directors determine is necessary to enable the preparation of the half-year financial report that gives a true and fair view and is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's responsibilities for the review of the half-year financial report

Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on the half-year financial report based on our review. ASRE 2410 requires us to conclude whether we have become aware of any matter that makes us believe that the half-year financial report is not in accordance with the Corporations Act 2001 including giving a true and fair view of the Group's financial position as at 31 December 2023 and its performance for the half-year ended on that date, and complying with Accounting Standard AASB 134 Interim Financial Reporting and the Corporations Regulations 2001.

A review of a half-year financial report consists of making enquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with Australian Auditing Standards and consequently does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.
