Management commentary

Chief Executive Officer, Dr James Fielding said:

"We are pleased to present Audeara's trading update for the March quarter - a period which saw the Company generate net positive cash flows from operations and continue to build momentum in its global expansion strategy.

Key milestones were highlighted by a step-change in growth for the group's AUA Technology division, which took receipt of a $2.1m purchase order from a major global music instrument manufacturer. While this PO provided a material positive contribution to cash receipts, it also represents strong execution of Audeara's stated strategy; to successfully leverage the IP from its leading suite of hardware products into profitable licensing solutions with global third-party providers.

In that context, the Company's achievements in the March quarter show that Audeara is increasingly laying the foundation to significantly expand its global revenue profile, and we look forward to providing more updates on the successful application of our white-label technology for the rest of 2024 and beyond. Concurrently, the group has maintained traction in its core Australian hardware markets, while advanced discussions with its commercial partners in European and Asian markets are ongoing.

Across its two core operating divisions -- hardware and software licensing -- Audeara is increasingly well positioned to convert its established product suite and distribution channels into a step-change in revenues and group earnings, and we look forward to providing more updates as the year progresses."

Financial overview

- ▶ Cash receipts for Q3 FY24 were $1.12m, a QoQ increase of 69% (Q2 FY24: $0.66m)
- ▶ Net operating cash flows of +$0.46m, an increase of $0.72m QoQ (Q2 FY24: $0.26m), marking the Company's first quarter of positive net operating cash flows
- ▶ YTD FY24 cash receipts of $2.56m, consistent with PCP
- ▶ Quarterly revenue generated totalled $0.59m (unaudited) - a QoQ increase of 64%
- ▶ Payments to related parties for directors' fees (executive and non-executive directors) were at $0.13m, comparable QoQ with a reduction of 32% YoY
- ▶ Cash at bank as at 31 March 2024 was $2.08m

Audeara's breakthrough quarter - highlighted by record cash receipts from operations and the Company's first quarter of net positive operating cash flows - was underpinned by accelerating momentum in global markets for the high-growth AUA Technology division. Receipts in the period included the second payment in connection with the $2.1m purchase order from a major US Music Instrument (MI) company (refer ASX Announcement 27 February 2024). The Company also took receipt of a $673,000 R&D Tax Refund, leaving it with a strong cash position to pursue additional growth initiatives in 2024.

Operational overview

AUA Technology secures $2.1m Purchase Order from global musical instrument manufacturer, Zildjian

The increase in cash receipts was underpinned by a $2.1m Purchase Order (PO) from a US-based music instrument brand. The PO follows a deposit payment of $320,000 in the previous quarter and marks the transition to contract manufacturing and licensing of the Company's technology following an extensive period of co-development over the previous 12 months.

With the receipt of the deposit for the first purchase order, Audeara remains confident that the work carried out to date has established the framework for a longer-term cash generating agreement. It also continues to highlight the potential for Audeara's technology to expand from its core target markets into major industries, with the benefit of distribution support from global brands.

Unlocking additional distribution opportunities in Asian markets

During the quarter, Audeara advanced distribution opportunities in core Asian markets via its co-development partner Clinico, the largest audiology retailer in Taiwan which is also a strategic investor in the Company.

Activities during the period centred around the addressable market for PSAP (Personal Sound Amplification Products) manufactured by Audeara and co-branded with Clinico. Management spent time in Taiwan to explore potential sales opportunities, which will be underpinned by Clinico's established distribution network in the region.

The Company also advanced opportunities in China to leverage AUA Technology into additional third party branded products. During the period, Audeara management advanced a number of potential strategic agreements, which have the potential to broaden the Company's international footprint and further strengthen its future revenue profile.

R&D Tax Refund Receipt

During the quarter, Audeara formally took receipt of a $673,000 payment from the Australian government, in connection with its FY2023 eligibility for the Research & Development (R&D) Tax Incentive.

The refund related to Audeara's eligible expenditure with the continuing development of its state-of-the-art headphones and innovative personal sound amplification solutions, and further strengthens the Company's cash position as it capitalises on recent momentum for its core hardware products alongside the high-growth AUA Technology division in domestic and global markets.
