Apurimac Iron Ore Project (Peru)

- The Peruvian Government has completed technical studies confirming the viability of the San Juan de Marcona-Andahuaylas railway project (Marcona-Andahuaylas Railway Project).
- The Peruvian Government will now initiate a construction tendering process and estimates that construction could commence between 2026/2027 with a targeted completion date by 2032.
- The Marcona-Andahuaylas Railway Project cost is estimated at USD$8.16 billion, with the government considering construction and financing under a Government to Government (G2G) scheme.
- Interest in the project by the Chinese and other Governments has already been confirmed, following a recent state visit to China led by President Dina Boluarte.
- The Peruvian Government has also announced the creation of a Joint Commission between China and Peru aimed at facilitating a portfolio of Government to Government (G2G) projects in infrastructure and services together with the creation of a new dedicated Ministry of Infrastructure to centralize investment promotion under a single agency.
- The Peruvian Government also during the quarter awarded a contract worth approximately US$405 million for the construction and operation of a new Port Terminal at San Juan de Marcona with a capacity of around 40 Million tonnes per annum (Mtpa).
- Upon completion by the targeted 2032 date, the railway would connect Strike's Apurimac Iron Ore Project (Apurimac Project) directly to the new Marcona Port Terminal and potentially provide an externally funded, high-capacity infrastructure solution for the Apurimac Project.
- Strike continues to advance its community relations initiatives in Peru and liaise with key stakeholders required to commence production of iron ore and to advance a proposed drilling program to increase the resource size at Apurimac.

PROJECTS

Apurimac Iron Ore Project (Peru)

Strike's Apurimac Iron Ore Project in Peru is recognised as one of the highest-grade, large-scale magnetite projects in the world with the potential to support the establishment of a significant iron ore operation (refer Figure 1).

A JORC (2012) Indicated and Inferred Mineral Resource has been defined at the main Opaban 1 and Opaban 3 concessions of 269Mt of iron ore at 57.3% Fe (142 Mt Indicated Resource at 57.8% Fe and 127 Mt Inferred Resource at 56.7% Fe).¹

Strike has previously completed two shipments (to Chinese and South American Steel Mills) of high-grade (+65% Fe) Apurimac Premium Lump shipping iron ore (DSO) in 2021.²

The Peruvian Government, through the Ministry of Transport and Communications (MTC) has formally approved an investment study that was completed to examine the viability of the proposed San Juan de Marcona-Andahuaylas railway.³ This railway is proposed to commence adjacent to the Company's Apurimac Project and terminate at the Port of San Juan de Marcona.⁴

With the MTC having completed its approval process, the MTC has confirmed that it will now move to a tendering and subsequent construction phase with construction scheduled to commence between 2026 and 2027 and with a targeted completion date by 2032. The Marcona-Andahuaylas Railway Project is proposed to operate under a 40-year concession model, managed by a single operator responsible for its operation and maintenance.⁵

The Marcona-Andahuaylas Railway Project is projected to cost USD$8.16 billion and is proposed to be executed under a Government to Government (G2G) scheme. Following the technical sign-off by the Peruvian Government, the Peruvian Minister for Transport and Communications (MTC) has made a number of positive comments highlighting the importance of the Marcona-Andahuaylas Railway Project including confirming interest from the Chinese Government after a recent state visit to China led by President Dina Boluarte.⁶ Interest in the Marcona-Andahuaylas Railway Project has also been received from governments of Canada, France and Germany.⁷

Following on from the state visit of the President of Peru to China, the President of Peru has also announced the creation of a Joint Commission between China and Peru aimed at facilitating a portfolio of Government to Government (G2G) projects in infrastructure and services. It was also announced that a new dedicated Ministry of Infrastructure would be created to centralize investment promotion under a single agency.⁸

The Peruvian Government also during the quarter awarded a contract worth approximately US$405 million to the Chinese company, Terminal Portuario Jinzhao Perú S.A., for the construction and operation of a new Port Terminal at San Juan de Marcona with a capacity of around 40 Million tonnes per annum (Mtpa).⁹ This port development, in conjunction with the Marcona-Andahuaylas railway, forms a proposed integrated transport export corridor starting from Andahuaylas Airport near Strike's Apurimac Iron Ore Project and ending at the Marcona Port Terminal.¹⁰

The port's development assumes that Strike's Apurimac Project could contribute up to 50% (20Mtpa) of the port's total freight.¹¹

Upon completion by the targeted 2032 date, the railway would connect Strike's Apurimac Iron Ore Project (Apurimac Project) directly to the new Marcona Port Terminal and potentially provide an externally funded, high-capacity infrastructure solution for the Apurimac Project.

The advancement of port and rail initiatives by the Peruvian Government increase the Company's confidence in the commitment of the Peruvian Government to develop large scale infrastructure projects, such as the proposed Marcona-Andahuaylas Railway Project. The recent study completion in particular is considered by the Company to be a significant step forward in potentially catalysing the development of Strike's Apurimac Project.

Strike is progressing the development of its Apurimac Iron Ore Project by:

- (a) Appointing a full-time CEO in Peru to consider the restart of small-scale production utilising local artisanal miners (subject to favourable production economics being attained) and to initiate development plans for a larger scale mining operation.
- (b) Engaging with local informal miners and finalising logistics for mining and export.
- (c) Implementing a Community Relations strategy to support short-term operations and the potential to increase the current JORC resource at Apurimac through a targeted drilling program.

- (e) Expanding logistics and administration support staff in Andahuaylas, near the Apurimac site.
- (f) Collaborating with Peruvian Government departments to participate in port and rail initiatives and expedite mining permit approvals.
- (g) Engaging international trading houses for project financing, hedging, and offtake agreements.
