Overview of SPC and the Combined Business

SPC is an iconic Australian brand that has been producing high quality products for Australian families for over 100 years. Proud of its rich Australian heritage and provenance, SPC delivers innovative and sustainable products to customers worldwide. SPC processes and markets a range of fruit and vegetable products, and is a market leader in packaged fruit, canned tomatoes, fruit snacks and multi-serve fruit products and is the second largest producer of baked beans & spaghetti products in Australia.

Since the carve out from Coca-Cola Amatil in 2019, SPC has significantly streamlined operations and leveraged the existing successful SPC products to expand the go-to market opportunity. SPC distributes products through four distinct channels and there exists a significant opportunity for the Combined Business to leverage this platform to expand these categories and enter new product categories as shown in the following diagram:

Concurrent with the Transaction, the Combined Business has received funding offers from a consortium led by a leading Australian non-bank lender in relation to a working capital debt facility to provide the Combined Business with sufficient liquidity to meet its working capital needs and fund integration of the businesses to ensure the realisation of synergies expected from the Transaction.

Strategic Rationale

Hon Jeff Kennett AC, Chairman of OJC, will be retiring from his position upon completion of the Transaction and said: "I have been honoured to serve as Chairman of OJC since December 2022. The agriculture industry is a core pillar of our national identity in Australia and the backbone of many regional towns across the country. We should be supporting businesses like OJC, SPC and NOD to continue to thrive in their mission to support local growers, employ Australians in our processing plants and produce iconic healthy products for consumers, both in Australia and abroad. I am excited about the prospects of the Combined Business."

The Transaction is a critical step in advancing the Australian and global strategy of OJC, SPC and NOD. This strategy has guided SPC since its divestment from Coca-Cola Amatil (CCA). It aligns with SPC's long-term vision of transforming SPC into a global leader in the food and beverage sector.

SPC's Chairman, Hussein Rifai, highlighted the company's bold mission, stating: "Our goal is to create 'better, healthier food for the future.' Since acquiring SPC from CCA, our strategy has been to firmly establish ourselves as a leader in both the Australian and global markets. Building a strong foundation in our home market is vital for sustainable growth and success."

Mr Rifai emphasised that Australia is the cornerstone of SPC's global ambitions. "Our immediate focus is on solidifying SPC's position as a domestic market leader. This is the essential first step before executing our broader global strategy, which targets key international markets, particularly in Asia, where we see significant growth opportunities."

With rising demand for premium, high-quality food and beverage products across Asia, SPC is strategically positioned to capitalise on its strengths in innovation, sustainability, and product excellence. "We are confident that this Transaction, backed by our strategic investments, will solidify SPC as a globally recognised brand while driving long-term value for our stakeholders."

This Transaction leverages the combined strengths of SPC, OJC and NOD, creating a market leader in the Australian food and beverage industry. Specifically:

- Significantly enhanced scale: SPC produces a wide range of different food products under its iconic Australian brands, across its core tomato, peach, apricot, plum, apple pomegranate and pear-based products and ready to eat meals and snacks that generated $271 million of revenues in FY24^{1,3}. NOD produces infant formula and a range of powdered milk formula products which generated $46 million of revenue in FY24. Combined, this significantly enhances OJC's current platform of juice-based products and increases pro-forma FY24 revenues from $49 million to $366 million^{1,3}.
- Highly synergistic and operational efficiencies: The transaction is expected to generate material synergies including via OJC having access to SPC's Shepparton production facility to unlock capacity limitations that currently exist at OJC's Mill Park facility which is operating at full capacity. Accessing this site would also bring production closer to many of growers in the Goulburn Valley. Additionally, there are enhanced distribution and supply chain efficiencies across both businesses. NOD, which manufactures out of a facility in Carrum Downs, Victoria will also have access to SPC's Shepparton warehousing capacity and state of the art IT systems which will allow the business to improve efficiency and reduce costs of production and distribution.
- One of Australia's oldest and most trusted brands with over 100 years of presence: SPC has considerable asset value in its plant and equipment and holds some of Australia's most iconic and recognisable household food brands – specifically SPC, Ardmona, Goulburn Valley, ProVital, Pomlife, the Good Meal Co, and Street Eats – some of which have been invested in for over 100 years.
- Counter-cyclical product diversification: SPC is one of the largest producers of packaged fruit and tomato-based products in Australia. Tomatoes and fruit have a ~12-week seasonal production window between February and April each year. Conversely, OJC's core production months as a predominantly citrus-based juice producer are between May and November each year. This counter-seasonality will allow for year around efficient utilisation of the production staff and facilities. Expansion into the powdered milk market is highly strategic to provide the Combined Business with a more diversified product base which is not purely susceptible to domestic growing seasons, and weather-related risk, and delivers high-margin earnings stability. This allows the Combined Business to more effectively and efficiently operate throughout the year, thereby increasing overall production, manage inventory flows, and even out earnings.

- Enhanced production capacity: SPC's production facility in Shepparton sits on approximately 240,000m² of land, with an annual production capacity in excess of 150,000 tonnes across multiple products. Importantly, SPC currently has multiple unused spaces at its Shepparton facility, and could accommodate overflow capacity from OJC's production processes, allowing OJC to materially increase its annual production volumes to meet observable customer demand and unlock new streams of revenue over time. Furthermore, SPC's national distribution centre will allow NOD to reduce its production, storage and distribution costs by reducing reliance on third party storage facilities.
- Platform for further inorganic growth: SPC's merger with OJC and NOD is a continuation of SPC's inorganic strategy, having now completed five complementary acquisitions and one divestment since the business was acquired from Coca-Cola Amatil. The Combined Business has multiple levers of inorganic growth, expanding its scale, products and geographic reach.
- Highly experienced and knowledgeable Board and management team with material alignment: SPC's Board and management team have undertaken a highly successful corporate turnaround since acquiring the business from Coca-Cola Amatil in 2019. SPC is only part of the way through this turnaround program of work, with considerable upside still to be realised for the Combined Business. Further details on the Combined Business Board and management team are outlined below.

SPC's incoming Managing Director, who will lead the Combined Business, Robert Iervasi, said: "SPC Global is excited to be joining with OJC and Nature One Dairy and come to market with a leading food and beverage platform. With our market leading packaged fruit, canned tomatoes, and baked bean products, we are excited to expand with OJC both domestically and globally and see significant synergy potential in bringing the two producers together. Proud of our 100+ history and our Shepparton roots, SPC looks forward to working with the OJC team to accelerate growth and leveraging the combined platform to enhance distribution of our products. The addition of Nature One Dairy also allows us to diversify and reach more consumers every day through our international channels."

OJC's CEO, Steven Cail, added: "This is a transformational moment for OJC, bringing our premium portfolio of juice products and processing technology together with SPC's iconic brands and the powdered milk business of Nature One Dairy, creating significant production capability to create a food and beverage producing market-leader. The strategy has always focused on setting up the business for future growth and synergies, and I am extremely excited about what the future holds for OJC. The OJC team is excited to join the 100+ year legacy of SPC and contribute to taking the Combined Business forward in its next phase of success."

NOD's CEO, Nick Demopoulos commented: "This is a great opportunity to be part of what will be one of Australia's largest food companies. NOD aligns very nicely with the SPC's core business and its desire to expand into the Asia. Utilising the Combined Business skill base, we can produce high quality products at a reduced costs and take other products of the Combined Business into Asia."

About the NOD Acquisition

OJC has entered into a binding agreement to acquire the powdered milk business owned by Nature One Dairy (Australia) Pte Ltd. NOD manufactures and sells premium infant formula, nutritional formula and milk powder products. With an established sales and marketing footprint in Australia, China and other Asia Pacific markets, NOD sells products under the Nature One Dairy brands. Nature One Dairy has invested in building a global sales and distribution network with tangible touch points in each geographical market and has established export agreements into key regions as outlined in the map on the right. The NOD acquisition provides a platform for further inorganic growth for the combined business through product diversification and access to the Asian distribution market.

The purchase price has been agreed as $50 million, $42.5 million of which will be payable in shares in the Combined Business issued at $1.50 per share upon completion (on a post-share consolidation basis), $6 million of which will be payable in cash subject to customary working capital and net debt adjustments and $1.5 million of which will be payable in shares in the Combined Business issued at $1.50 per share within 2 years post-completion subject to being set off against any OJC claims under the purchase agreement. Where this deed refers to a matter being to the 'satisfaction' of a party, this means to the satisfaction of that party in its absolute discretion.

Exercise of rights

- 14.8 A party may exercise a right, power or remedy at its discretion, and separately or concurrently with another right, power or remedy. Except where expressly stated to the contrary in this deed, the rights of a party under this deed are cumulative and are in addition to any other rights available to that party whether those rights are provided for under this deed or by law.

Further acts
