The words "expect", "anticipate", "estimate", "intend", "believe", "guidance", "outlook", "target", "should", "could", "may", "will", "predict", "plan", "budget" and other similar expressions are intended to identify forward-looking statements. Indications of, and guidance on, future earnings and financial position and performance are also forward-looking statements, as are statements regarding the timetable and outcome of the Placement, statements about Horizon's and/or Poseidon's plans, including with respect to the Proposed Transaction (as that term is defined in this Presentation) and, if the Proposed Transaction is implemented, Horizon's proposed refurbishment and conversion of Poseidon's Black Swan processing facility. Forward-looking statements, opinions and estimates provided in this Presentation are based on assumptions and contingencies that are subject to change without notice and involve known and unknown risks and uncertainties and other factors that are beyond the control of Horizon, Poseidon and their respective directors and management. This includes statements about market and industry trends, which are based on interpretations of current market conditions. Forward-looking statements are provided as a general guide only and should not be relied upon as an indication or guarantee of future performance. Actual results, performance, actions or achievements may differ materially from those expressed or implied in such statements and any projections and assumptions on which these statements are based. These statements may assume the success of Horizon's and/or Poseidon's business strategies, the success of which may not be realised within the period for which the forward-looking statement may have been prepared, or at all.

Several important factors could cause actual results or performance to differ materially from the forward-looking statements, including (without limitation) the risk factors set out in this Presentation. These risks and uncertainties include but are not limited to liabilities inherent in mine development and production, geological, mining and processing technical problems, the inability to obtain any additional mine licences, permits and other regulatory approvals required in connection with mining and third party processing operations, competition for among other things, capital, acquisition of reserves, undeveloped lands and skilled personnel, incorrect assessments of the value of acquisitions, changes in commodity prices and exchange rates, currency and interest fluctuations, various events which could disrupt operations and/or the transportation of mineral products, including labour shortages and severe weather conditions, the demand for and availability of transportation services, the ability to secure adequate financing and management's ability to anticipate and manage the foregoing risks and factors. Therefore, investors are strongly cautioned not to place undue reliance on forward-looking statements, particularly in light of those risk factors. Additional risks and uncertainties not presently known to management or that management currently believe not to be material may also affect Horizon's and/or Poseidon's business. No representation, warranty or assurance (express or implied) is given or made in relation to any forward-looking statement by any person (including Horizon, Poseidon or any of their respective advisers). In particular, no representation, warranty or assurance (express or implied) is given that the occurrence of the events expressed or implied in any forward-looking statements in this Presentation will actually occur. Actual operations, results, performance, production targets or achievement may vary materially from any projections and forward-looking statements and the assumptions on which those statements are based. To the maximum extent permitted by law, Horizon and Poseidon and their related bodies corporate and affiliates and their respective directors, officers, partners, employees, advisers, agents and intermediaries disclaim any obligation or undertaking to release any updates or revisions to the information to reflect any change in expectations or assumptions. Except as required by law or regulation (including the ASX Listing Rules), Horizon and Poseidon undertake no obligation to provide any additional or updated information whether as a result of new information, future events or results or otherwise. Nothing in this Presentation will under any circumstances create an implication that there has been no change in the affairs of Horizon and/or Poseidon since the date of this Presentation.

Horizon and Poseidon respectively believe that they have a reasonable basis for making the forward looking statements in this Presentation, based on the information contained in this Presentation and previous ASX announcements.

JORC CODE

It is a requirement of the ASX Listing Rules that the reporting of ore reserves and mineral resources in Australia comply with the 2012 Edition of the Australasian Code for Reporting of Exploration Results, Mineral Resources and Ore Reserves (JORC Code). Investors should note that such estimates of resources and reserves are largely dependent on the interpretation of data and may prove to be incorrect over time. No assurance can be given that the resources and reserves presented in this Presentation will be recovered at the levels presented. Investors outside Australia should note that while ore reserve and mineral resource estimates of Horizon and/or Poseidon in this Presentation comply with the JORC Code (such JORC Code-compliant ore reserves and mineral resources being "Ore Reserves" and "Mineral Resources" respectively), they may not comply with the relevant guidelines in other countries and, in particular, do not comply with (i) National Instrument 43-101 (Standards of Disclosure for Mineral Projects) of the Canadian Securities Administrators; or (ii) Subpart 1300 of Regulation S-K, which governs disclosures of mineral reserves in registration statements filed with the SEC. Information contained in this document describing mineral deposits may not be comparable to similar information made public by companies subject to the reporting and disclosure requirements of Canadian or US securities laws. Investors should not assume that any part of quantities reported as "resources" will be converted to reserves under the JORC Code, Subpart 1300 of Regulation S-K or any other reporting regime or that these amounts can be economically exploited, particularly material classified as "inferred", and you are cautioned not to place undue reliance on those estimates.

Risk Factors

Risk Factors

1. Potential risk factors

1.1 Overview

Investors should be aware of key risks associated with Horizon, Poseidon, the Schemes, the Placement, the industry in which Horizon and Poseidon operate and an investment in Horizon shares. These risks include:

- (a) specific risks relating to Horizon and its subsidiaries now and in the future (the Horizon Group);
- (b) general risks affecting the Horizon Group; and
- (c) risks relating to the Proposed Transaction.

Before subscribing for any Horizon shares under the Placement, prospective investors should carefully consider and evaluate whether the Horizon Group, its business and Horizon shares are suitable to acquire, having regard to their investment objectives and financial circumstances and taking into consideration material risk factors. The outline of risks below is a summary only and should not be considered exhaustive. No assurances or guarantees are given in relation to the future performance of, profitability of, share price of, or return of capital or payment of dividends by Horizon.

1.2 Specific Horizon Group risks

The following risks have been identified as being key risks specific to an investment in Horizon. These risks have the potential to have a significant adverse impact on the Horizon Group and may affect the Horizon Group's financial position, prospects and price of its listed securities.

Mining Risk and Mineral Resource Estimates

When compared with many industrial and commercial operations, mining and mineral processing projects are relatively high risk. This is particularly so where new technologies are employed. Each orebody is unique. The nature of mineralisation, the occurrence and grade of the ore, as well as its behaviour during mining and processing can never be wholly predicted.

The Mineral Resource estimates contained in this Presentation are estimates only and no assurance can be given that any particular level of recovery of gold or other minerals will in fact be realised or that an identified mineral deposit will ever qualify as a commercially mineable (or viable) ore body which can be economically exploited.

Estimations of the tonnes, grade and overall mineral content of a deposit are not precise calculations but are based on interpretation of samples from drilling, which even at close drill hole spacing, represent a very small sample of the entire orebody. Mineral Resource estimates are therefore expressions of judgement based on knowledge, experience and industry practice. Though the estimates may be accurate global approximations of gold content, localised grade variability may exist, which could result in short term deviations from production expectations.

By their very nature, Mineral Resource estimates are imprecise and depend to some extent on interpretations, which may prove to be inaccurate. Reported estimates, which were valid when originally estimated, may alter significantly when new information or techniques become available. As the Horizon Group obtains new information through additional drilling and analysis, Mineral Resource estimates are likely to change. This may result in alterations to the Horizon Group's exploration, development and production plans which may, in turn, positively or negatively affect the Horizon Group's operations and financial position.

Often historical exploration reports do not include or discuss the use of quality assurance and quality control (QAQC) procedures as part of the sampling programs. Therefore, it is difficult to determine the validity and reliability of much of the historical samples, even where original assays are reported. The inability to properly validate all the exploration data reported herein, which has an impact on the proposed exploration, increases the exploration risk.

Operational Risk

The Horizon Group's exploration and development activities will be subject to numerous operational risks, many of which are beyond the Horizon Group's control. The Horizon Group's operations may be curtailed, delayed or cancelled as a result of factors such as adverse weather conditions, mechanical difficulties, shortages in or increases in the costs of consumables, spare parts, plant and equipment, external services failure (such including energy and water supply), industrial disputes and action, difficulties in commissioning and operating plant and equipment, IT system failures, mechanical failure or plant breakdown, and compliance with governmental requirements.

Hazards incidental to the mining, exploration and development of mineral properties such as unusual or unexpected geological formations may be encountered by the Horizon Group. Industrial and environmental accidents could lead to substantial claims against the Horizon Group for injury or loss of life, and damage or destruction to property, as well as regulatory investigations, clean up responsibilities, penalties and the suspension of operations.

The Horizon Group will endeavour to take appropriate action to mitigate these operational risks (including by ensuring legislative compliance, properly documenting arrangements with counterparties, and adopting industry best practice policies and procedures) or to insure against them, but the occurrence of any one or a combination of these events may have a material adverse effect on the Horizon Group's performance and the value of its assets.

Future capital requirements and financing risks

The cash reserves of the Horizon Group may not be sufficient funding to cover the anticipated expenditure that will be required for the development of Horizon's operations, further exploration, feasibility studies and development activities.

Horizon will need to raise additional debt and/or equity funds in the future. There is no assurance that Horizon will be able to obtain debt or equity funding when required, or that the terms associated with that funding will be acceptable to Horizon. Debt financing, if available, may involve restrictions on financing and operation activities and may have a material adverse effect on Horizon's financial position and prospects. Any additional equity financing that Horizon may undertake in the future may dilute existing shareholdings.

Securing funding for projects or other forms of financing for operations may depend on a number of factors, including commodity prices, interest rates, economic conditions, debt market conditions, share market conditions and country risk issues. Inability to obtain financing or refinancing or other factors could cause delays in the development of exploration opportunities or increase financing costs and thus adversely affect the financial condition and performance of Horizon.

Horizon may need to raise additional debt and/or equity, or reduce the scope of its anticipated development, which could adversely affect its business, financial condition and operating results, and its ability to continue as a going concern or its ability to pay its debts as and when they fall due. Any additional equity financing may be dilutive to shareholders, and debt financing (including lease financing of equipment), if available, may involve restrictions on financing and operating activities. There is no assurance that Horizon will be able to obtain or access additional funding when required, or that the terms associated with that funding will be acceptable or favourable to Horizon or permissible given any legal restrictions. In such circumstances, if Horizon is unable to secure refinancing, or refinancing on favourable terms, this may have a material adverse effect on Horizon.

Horizon's ability to secure funding in amounts sufficient to meet its financial needs could be adversely affected by many factors beyond its control, including economic conditions and the state of the capital markets. If Horizon is unable to raise the necessary funds, it will have to revise its planned capital expenditure and may be required to reduce the scope of its anticipated activities. Such possible reduction could adversely affect Horizon's ability to complete the development of existing projects and Horizon's exploration opportunities.

Horizon's ability to service its debt will depend on its future performance and cash flows, which will be affected by many factors, some of which are beyond Horizon's control.

1.3 General risks relating to an investment in the Horizon Group

The operating and financial performance of the Horizon Group is (or will be) influenced by the general business and economic variables that impact upon all entities listed on a stock exchange including changes in business and economic factors, such as interest rates, exchange rates, inflation, changes in national demographics, changes in governmental policy and changes to accounting or reporting standards.

The price and volume of trade at which Horizon shares will trade on ASX can be affected by a range of external factors over which Horizon does not have any control. Key risks are discussed below.

Exploration and development

Exploration is a high-risk activity that requires large amounts of expenditure over extended periods of time. The Horizon Group's exploration activities would be subject to all the hazards and risks normally encountered in the exploration of minerals, including climatic conditions, hazards of operating vehicles and plant, risks associated with operating in remote areas and other similar considerations. Conclusions drawn during exploration and development are subject to the uncertainties associated with all sampling techniques and to the risk of incorrect interpretation of geological, geochemical, geophysical, drilling and other data.

There can be no assurance that any exploration or development activity in regard to the Horizon Group's properties, or any properties that may be acquired in the future, will result in the discovery or exploitation of an economic resource.

The success of the Horizon Group depends on the delineation of economically mineable reserves and resources, access to required development capital, movement in the price of mineral commodities, securing and maintaining title to the Horizon Group's exploration and mining tenements and obtaining all consents and approvals necessary for the conduct of its exploration activities. Even if an apparently viable resource is identified, there is no certainty that it can be economically exploited.

Mineral exploration, development and mining/extraction may be hampered by circumstances beyond the control of the Horizon Group.

Operational and technical risks

The operations of the Horizon Group may be affected by various factors, including failure to locate or identify mineral deposits, failure to achieve predicted grades and/or resources in exploration and mining, operational and technical difficulties encountered in mining and extraction, difficulties in commissioning and operating plant and equipment, mechanical failure or plant breakdown, unanticipated metallurgical or recovery problems which may affect extraction costs, adverse weather conditions, industrial and environmental accidents, industrial disputes, and unexpected shortages or increases in the costs of consumables, spare parts, plant and equipment.

Such difficulties also include weather (including flooding) and natural disasters, geotechnical issues, failure to convert Mineral Resources to Ore Reserves as expected, failure to delineate additional Mineral Resources and Ore Reserves, unexpected maintenance or technical problems, failure of key equipment, depletion of the Horizon Group's future Ore Reserves (if delineated), increased or unexpected reclamation costs and interruptions due to transportation delays.

These unforeseen geological and operating difficulties could cause a loss of revenue due to lower production than expected, higher operating and maintenance costs and/or ongoing unplanned capital expenditure to meet gold production targets.

A failure to obtain access (whether under a contractual arrangement or otherwise) to an adequate supply of capital equipment or consumables for use in the Horizon Group's operations could result in reduced production rates, and/or increased costs of the Horizon Group's projects.

It is common in new mining operations to experience unexpected problems and delays during development, construction and mine start-ups which delay the commencement of mineral production.

Accordingly, there is no assurance that the Horizon Group's exploration and development activities will develop into profitable mining operations.

Mine development

Possible future development of a mining operation at any of the Horizon Group's projects would be dependent on a number of factors including, but not limited to, the acquisition and/or delineation of economically recoverable mineralisation, favourable geological conditions, receiving the necessary approvals from all relevant authorities and parties, seasonal weather patterns, unanticipated technical and operational difficulties encountered in extraction and production activities, mechanical failure of operating plant and equipment, shortages or increases in the price of consumables, spare parts and plant and equipment, cost overruns, access to the required level of funding and contracting risk from third parties providing essential services.

If the Horizon Group commenced production, its operations may be disrupted by a variety of risks and hazards which are beyond its control, including environmental hazards, industrial accidents, technical failures, labour disputes, unusual or unexpected rock formations, flooding and extended interruptions due to inclement of hazardous weather conditions and fires, explosions or accidents. No assurance can be given that the Horizon Group would achieve commercial viability through the development or mining of its projects and treatment of ore.

Commodity price fluctuations

In the event of exploration and development success, any future revenue derived through any future sales of valuable minerals exposes the potential income of the Horizon Group to commodity price risks. Commodity prices fluctuate and are affected by numerous factors beyond the control of the Horizon Group. These factors include world demand for commodities, forward selling by producers and the level of production costs in major commodity-producing regions. Moreover, commodity prices are also affected by macroeconomic factors such as expectations regarding inflation, interest rates and global and regional demand for, and supply of, commodities.

Environmental risks

The operations and activities of the Horizon Group are subject to State and Federal laws and regulations concerning the environment. As with most exploration projects and mining operations, the Horizon Group's activities are expected to have an impact on the environment, particularly if advanced exploration or mine development proceeds. Such impact can give rise to substantial costs for environmental rehabilitation, damage, control and losses. Further, if there are environmental rehabilitation conditions attaching to the mining tenements of the Horizon Group, failure to meet such conditions could lead to forfeiture of these tenements.

Tenure risks

The Horizon Group cannot guarantee additional applications for tenements made by the Horizon Group will ultimately be granted, in whole or in part. Further the Horizon Group cannot guarantee that renewals of valid tenements will be granted on a timely basis, or at all.

Native title and Aboriginal Heritage risks

It is possible that there may be areas over which legitimate common law native title rights of Aboriginal Australians exist in relation to the tenements that the Horizon Group has, or may acquire, an interest in. Where native title exists, the ability of the Horizon Group to obtain the consent of any relevant land owner, or to progress from the exploration phase to the development and mining phases of the operation, may be adversely affected.

It is possible that there will exist on the Horizon Group's Australian mining tenements, areas containing sacred sites or sites of significance to Aboriginal people subject to the provisions of the relevant legislation, or areas subject to the Native Title Act 1993 (Cth) in Australia. The existence of Aboriginal heritage and cultural sites within the tenements may lead to restrictions on the areas that the Horizon Group will be able to explore and mine.

Joint venture partners and contractors

The Horizon Group relies significantly on strategic relationships with other entities and also on a good relationship with regulatory and government departments and other interest holders. The Horizon Group also relies on third parties to provide essential contracting services. There can be no assurance that its existing relationships will continue to be maintained or that new ones will be successfully formed and the Horizon Group, whether as a consequence of the Proposed Transaction or otherwise, could be adversely affected by changes to such relationships or difficulties in forming new ones.

Key personnel

Horizon is reliant on a number of key senior management staff. Loss of such personnel may have an adverse impact on performance. However, this risk is mitigated by the fact that the gold sector is international in nature and has a significant depth of suitably qualified alternative personnel. Notwithstanding this, there may be periods of time where a particular position remains vacant while a suitable replacement is identified and appointed.

Litigation risks

The Horizon Group is exposed to possible litigation risks including contractual disputes and employee claims. Further, the Horizon Group may be involved in disputes with other parties in the future which may result in litigation. Any such claim or dispute if proven may impact adversely on Horizon's operations, financial performance and financial position.

Equity market conditions

Securities listed on the stock market, and in particular securities of gold producing companies, can experience extreme price and volume fluctuations that are often unrelated to the operating performances of such companies. The market price of securities may fall as well as rise and may be subject to varied and unpredictable influences on the market for equities in general.

General factors that may affect the market price of securities include economic conditions in both Australia and internationally, investor sentiment, local and international share market conditions, changes in interest rates and the rate of inflation, variations in commodity prices, the global security situation and the possibility of terrorist disturbances, changes to government regulation, policy or legislation, changes which may occur to the taxation of companies as a result of changes in Australian and foreign taxation laws, changes to the system of dividend imputation in Australia, and changes in exchange rates.

Changes in government policy and legislation

Any material adverse changes in relevant government policies or legislation of Australia may affect the viability and profitability of the Horizon Group, and consequent returns to investors. The activities of the Horizon Group will be subject to various federal, state and local laws governing prospecting, development, production, taxes, labour standards and occupational health and safety, and other matters.

Regulatory risks

The Horizon Group's research and development activities are subject to extensive laws and regulations relating to numerous matters including taxation, employee relations, health and worker safety, waste disposal, protection of the environment and other matters. The Horizon Group requires permits from regulatory authorities to authorise its operations.

Obtaining necessary permits can be a time-consuming process and there is a risk that the Horizon Group may not obtain these permits on acceptable terms, in a timely manner or at all. The costs and delays associated with obtaining necessary permits and complying with these permits and applicable laws and regulations could materially delay or restrict the Horizon Group from proceeding with the development of a project or the operation or development of a mine. Any failure to comply with applicable laws and regulations or permits, even if inadvertent, could result in material fines, penalties or other liabilities. In extreme cases, failure could result in suspension of the Horizon Group's activities or forfeiture of one or more of its tenements.

Going Concern

Horizon's auditor included an emphasis of matter relating to a material uncertainty for Horizon to continue as a going concern, in its audit reports for the years ended 30 June 2022, 30 June 2023 and 30 June 2024. Material uncertainty in relation to going concern is a standard and common comment made by auditors for junior explorers in the current market uncertain conditions.

With respect to the Horizon Group's ongoing capital requirements, please refer to the risk factor titled "Future capital requirements and financing risks" above. In the event the Horizon Group is unable to raise additional working capital to meet its ongoing operational and exploration commitments as and when required, this may have an adverse effect on the Horizon Group's financial position and prospects and cast doubt over the ability of the Horizon Group to continue as a going concern.

Climate Change

There are a number of climate-related factors that may affect the operations and proposed activities of the Horizon Group. The climate change risks particularly attributable to the Horizon Group include:

- (a) the emergence of new or expanded regulations associated with the transitioning to a lower-carbon economy and market changes related to climate change mitigation. The Horizon Group may be impacted by changes to local or international compliance regulations related to climate change mitigation efforts, or by specific taxation or penalties for carbon emissions or environmental damage. These examples sit amongst an array of possible restraints on industry that may further impact the Horizon Group and its business viability. While the Horizon Group will endeavour to manage these risks and limit any consequential impacts, there can be no guarantee that the Horizon Group will not be impacted by these occurrences; and
- (b) climate change may cause certain physical and environmental risks that cannot be predicted by the Horizon Group, including events such as increased severity of weather patterns and incidence of extreme weather events and longer-term physical risks such as shifting climate patterns. All these risks associated with climate change may significantly change the industry in which the Horizon Group operates.

Other

Other risk factors include those normally found in conducting business, including litigation resulting from the breach of agreements or in relation to employees (through personal injuries, industrial matters or otherwise) or any other cause, strikes, lockouts, loss of service of key management or operational personnel, non-insurable risks, delay in resumption of activities after reinstatement following the occurrence of an insurable risk and other matters that may interfere with the business or trade of the Horizon Group.

1.4 Risks relating to the Proposed Transaction

The following risks have been identified as being key risks specific to an investment in Horizon with respect to its Proposed Transaction with Poseidon. In addition to the risks identified above, these risks have the potential to have a significant adverse impact on Horizon and Poseidon and may affect their respective financial position, prospects and price of their listed securities.

The Proposed Transaction may not be implemented

Implementation of the Proposed Transaction will be subject to a number of conditions precedent. There can be no certainty, nor can Horizon provide any assurance, that these conditions will be satisfied or waived (where applicable), or if satisfied or waived (where applicable), when that will occur. In addition, there will be a number of conditions precedent to the Proposed Transaction which are outside the control of Poseidon, including, but not limited to, approval of the Proposed Transaction by the requisite majorities of Poseidon securityholders and the court.

If for any reason the conditions to the Proposed Transaction are not satisfied or waived (where applicable), the Proposed Transaction will not be implemented.

In addition, as is market practice, it is anticipated that Poseidon and Horizon will each have the right to terminate the scheme implementation deed in respect of the Proposed Transaction in certain circumstances. As such, there is no certainty that the scheme implementation deed will not be terminated before the Proposed Transaction is implemented.

If the Proposed Transaction is not implemented, then Horizon will not acquire any interest in Poseidon or its subsidiaries. Further, Horizon will not have access to Poseidon's 2.2Mtpa Black Swan processing facility and will have to source other processing capability, the cost of which is unknown and may negatively impact on the financial position of the Horizon Group.

Integration risk

If the Proposed Transaction is implemented, the long-term success of the combined Horizon and Poseidon businesses (the Combined Group) will depend, amongst other things, on the success of management in integrating the respective businesses and the strength of management of the Combined Group. There is no guarantee that the Horizon and Poseidon businesses will be able to be integrated successfully into the Combined Group within a reasonable period of time. There are risks that any integration of the businesses of Poseidon and Horizon may take longer than expected and that anticipated efficiencies and benefits of that integration may be less than estimated. These risks include the inability to achieve synergy benefits and cost savings, and the potential loss of key personnel.

Any failure by Horizon to ensure implementation costs remain below those anticipated may have a material adverse effect on the financial performance and position, and prospects, of Horizon.

Issue of new Horizon shares

If the Proposed Transaction is implemented, a significant number of new Horizon shares will be available for trading in the public market. The increase in the number of Horizon shares may lead to sales of such shares or the perception that such sales may occur, either of which may adversely affect the market price of Horizon shares.

Other risks

Additional risks and uncertainties not currently known to Horizon may also have a material adverse effect on the businesses of Horizon, Poseidon and/or the Combined Group (if the Proposed Transaction is implemented). The information set out above does not purport to be, nor should it be construed as representing, an exhaustive list of the risks of Horizon, Poseidon, or the potential Combined Group.

Windarra Gold Tailings North and South Dams Resource: no cut-off grade has been used to report the resource, as potential mining method dictates removal of the entire dams. a dry bulk in situ density of 1.6 t/m<sup>3</sup> has been used to derive tonnages. resource numbers in Table 3A may not sum exactly due to rounding.

Windarra Gold Tailings central Dam Resource: No cut-off grade has been used to report the resource, as the potential mining method dictates removal of the entire dam down to a specified elevation. The mineralisation has been reported above a flat elevation of 446 mRL; there are tailings below this level but these have been shown by drilling to contain no gold, and it is anticipated that the proposed mining method will not treat material below this elevation. A dry bulk in situ density of 1.6 t/m<sup>3</sup> has been used to derive tonnages. Resource totals may not sum exactly due to rounding.
