

Quarterly Activities Report

Quarter Ending 31 December 2024

This is the quarterly report of Helios Energy Ltd (ASX Code: HE8) (Helios or Company) for its activities for the 3-month period ending on 31 December 2024.

Highlights

- Appointment in mid-November of Philipp Kin as Managing Director bringing over 18 years of experience in the energy and mining sectors
- Managing Director's Presidio site visit in December to engage with key stakeholders, technical teams and assess the Presidio Project
- Secured $150,000 in short-term funding agreements from directors, personnel, and Gleneagle Securities to support the completion of the updated resource report for the Presidio Project
- Appointed NRW, a leading independent investor and media relations firm specialising in small to mid-cap ASX-listed companies
- Subsequent to the quarter end, Helios has:
 - Confirmed the scale and quality of Helios' flagship Presidio Project with an Independent Contingent Resource report, highlighting both Helios' and the total basin potential resources
 - Engaged W.D. Von Gonten Engineering LLC to provide advanced geological and technical expertise
 - Began a significant cost reduction exercise

Managing Director Philipp Kin commented:

"The past 3 months marked a reset for Helios and its shareholders with the achievement of several significant milestones which are critical to the Company's success.

Last December I travelled to the US to inspect our assets and evaluate the day to day operations of the Company. Whilst there were significant challenges to put Helios back on track, I came away impressed with some of the steps the Company has already taken. I am strongly convinced that Helios has a significant asset that has the feel of the early Eagle Ford play in the US. Importantly, in addition to my assessment of the potential of the asset we have also had independent verification highlighted by our recent significant contingent resource report and our engagement with W.D. Von Gonten.

As part of our ongoing strategy, we will be providing shareholders with ongoing updates, however with W.D. Von Gonten onboard and working on the asset, we anticipate that the scope of work will not take long, and the Company should be in a position to drill sooner rather than later."

About the Presidio Project

The Presidio Project is Helios Energy's flagship asset, strategically located in the Marfa Sub-Basin in West Texas. Targeting the Cretaceous Lower Ojinaga Formation, the project represents a significant geological discovery with strong analogy to the highly productive Cretaceous Austin Chalk Formation in the Giddings Field in East Texas.

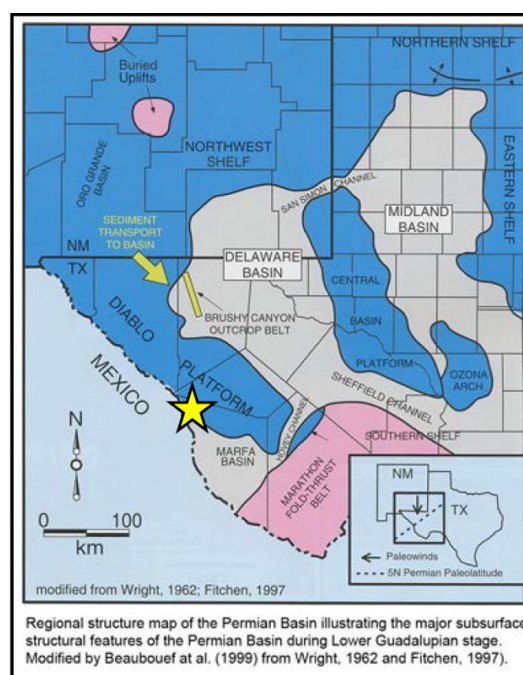

Helios has a 70% Working Interest (WI) in the Presidio Oil & Gas Project, which comprises of:

- 70%WI in a total of 7,877.8 acres
- 70%WI in the 4 wells drilled by Helios in the Presidio Oil & Gas Project, namely, Presidio 52#1, Presidio 141#2, Quinn Creek 141#1 and Quinn Mesa 113.

Presidio County, Texas, USA

Contingent Resource Report

Subsequent to the quarter end, Helios Energy announced an Independent Contingent Resource Report validating the scale and quality of the Presidio Project in West Texas (refer ASX announcements of 16 and 28 January 2025).

Significant Hydrocarbon Potential has been discovered by Helios through drilling, logging, sampling, and testing of four wells. Large quantities of potentially recoverable condensate/wet gas of material value, reservoir just in the Ojinaga (OJ) Formation that overlies the Eagle Ford Formation (EGFD) have been established in the underexplored Presidio Project area.

The report validated Helios' thesis that the Ojinaga formation is analogous to the Austin Chalk formation in the Giddings Field area in East Texas which has produced ~600 million barrels (MMbbl) of oil to date and is the primary target in the Presidio project.

Key highlights of the Contingent Resource Report:

- Gross (100%) Contingent Resources:
 - Oil: 9–15 million barrels
 - Natural Gas Liquids (NGL): 5–8 million barrels
 - Gas: 74–118 billion cubic feet
- Net (75% NRI) Contingent Resources:
 - Oil: 5–8 million barrels
 - NGL: 2–4 million barrels
 - Gas: 36–57 billion cubic feet

The report confirmed that hydrocarbons are primarily located within the Lower Ojinaga (OJ) Formation, a reservoir that exhibits strong analogies to the highly productive Austin Chalk Formation in East Texas. This underexplored region represents a major opportunity for Helios Energy to capitalise on substantial recoverable resources.

The validation of the Presidio Project's resource potential further underpins the project's strategic importance. It positions Helios Energy to progress with additional technical evaluations and further de-risking activities, setting the stage for future development.

Engagement of W.D. Von Gonten Engineering

Subsequent to the quarter, Helios Energy engaged W.D. Von Gonten Engineering LLC (WDVG), a premier petroleum engineering consultancy based in Houston, Texas, to provide advanced technical expertise for the development of the Presidio Project (refer ASX announcement of 13 January 2025).

Key highlights of the engagement:

- WDVG brings over 30 years of experience in geological, engineering, and laboratory services, having evaluated over 50,000 wells and conducted more than 5,000 logs and 1,000 core studies worldwide.
- The firm will leverage cutting-edge capabilities, including 3D hydraulic fracture modelling, advanced geological analysis, and in-house laboratory testing, to optimise development strategies for the Presidio Project.
- This collaboration underscores the significant hydrocarbon potential of the Presidio Project and demonstrates Helios Energy's commitment to deploying world-class resources to maximize its value.

The engagement of WDVG marks a critical step in Helios Energy's development strategy, with technical evaluations expected to significantly de-risk the project and support future exploration and production activities.

Leases Acquired or Disposed of During the Quarter

As at 31 December 2024 Helios has a 70%WI in a total of 7,877.8 acres. A total of 60 acres of leases were allowed to expire during the last quarter. All 7,877 acres, the subject of the Presidio Oil and Gas Project, are in the south-west portion of Presidio County, Texas and are the subject of oil and gas lease agreements entered into with private oil and gas and mineral rights owners.

Presidio 52#1 Well

The well has producing 47bbl of oil and wet gas during the 26 days it was on test during the quarter. No oil or gas sales were made.

Quinn Creek 141#1 Well

Helios has left this well open producing small amounts of gas from while it waits on a wellhead repair; no gas sales have been made and no barrels of oil were produced during the quarter, the repair is planned to be completed in the first quarter of 2025 returning this well to production

Presidio 141#2 Well

Helios has been waiting until road repairs could be made to allow the removal of produced water. No gas sales have been made and no oil was produced during the quarter. This well is expected to be returned to production in the first quarter of 2025.

Total acreage at 31 December 2024 is set out follows:

Corporate

During the quarter, Helios Energy strengthened its leadership and financial position with several key developments. Philipp Kin was appointed as Managing Director, effective 15 November 2024. With over 18 years of experience in the energy and mining sectors, Philipp brings extensive expertise in driving growth and operational excellence. In December, he visited the Presidio Project site to engage with stakeholders and technical teams, underscoring his commitment to advancing the Company's flagship project.

Additionally, Helios Energy announced the appointment of NWR Communications to enhance its investor relations and shareholder engagement efforts. NWR will work closely with the Company to ensure clear and effective communication of its corporate strategy and operational updates, strengthening ties with the investment community.

Helios also secured $150,000 in short-term funding agreements to support ongoing operations. The funding was provided by directors, personnel, and Gleneagle Securities Pty Ltd, including $50,000 from Gleneagle and $100,000 from directors and management. This additional funding complements the Company's existing $500,000 Gleneagle facility, which remains undrawn, further bolstering Helios' financial position.
