Founder & CEO, Zane Yoshida, stated:

"The purchase of our facility in Fiji marks a significant milestone for The Calmer Co. This acquisition comes at a pivotal moment as we install our suite of new plant and equipment, while also executing crucial upgrades to enhance our production capabilities.

This achievement has been made possible through the support of our shareholders and the Fiji Development Bank. As the bank is government-owned, this approval reflects the confidence and backing of the Fiji Government in our business.

Owning our production facility strengthens our market position, allowing us to further invest in the Fijian economy by increasing plant capacity, introducing in-house laboratory functionality, and expanding our kava buying and processing efforts, in line with booming demand for kava products around the world.

We also want to acknowledge the invaluable partnership we have built with Kai Ming Agro Processing over the years. We deeply appreciate the collaboration with Calvin and the Kai Ming team and look forward to continuing this strong relationship for many years to come.”
